Byddyll

Smith - m 2nd William Biddle

William Biddle, the emigrant, married Sarah Kemp in 1666.
American Biddles are descended from the family of the same name seated during the early seventeenth century at Birlingham in Worcestershire and before that at Bushley, also in Worcestershire. Documentary evidence has been obtained which clearly co-ordinates the four generations prior to William Biddle the emigrant as follows:
1.John Byddull of Bushley, born circa 1500, as the father of 2.Edward Byddyll of Poole in Bushley, who married Elizabeth Wyet, sister of the Rev. John Wyet, Vicar of Bushley; this Edwrd's son.
3.John Biddle of Bushley, married Elizabeth Higgins; he died in 1626, leaving, with other issue, a son
4.Edward, sometimes Edmond, Biddle of Birlingham, whose son
5. William Biddle, born 1632, emigrated with his family to America and settled at Mount Hope, New Jersey.
The emigrant'ts direct line of ancestry is set forth in the attached pedigree in detail. Prior to John Byddyll, No. 1, we have yet been unable to establish the line of descent, but it is evident that the Biddle family was anciently seated in Bushley. Bushley lies to the West of the Severn, about 2 miles from Tewkesbury and the parish is made up of those Manors, two of which, together with the Church, belonged, until the Dissolution, to Tewkesbury Abbey. The Biddles were landowners there in the latter half of the thirteenth century. In the year 1280 Nicholas Bedell paid subsidy, and 47 years later Robert Le Budel of Bushley and Pulle, now Poole, prossibly his son is mentioned in contemporary records. The last of the family to reside in the parish of Bushley was apparently a certain "Mr. John Biddle, Gentleman" of Friebarnes End, who was buried there in 1747.

Words To Live By

By JAN STRUTHER

"When you are an anvil,
hold you still;
When you are a hammer,
strike your fill."

—JOHN FLORIO

THIS COUPLET, written in 1591, expresses with beautiful economy a deep truth: that in order to live our lives we need the two balanced but related qualities of humility and resolution; of patience in suffering and strength in action. We are both object and subject, both the slave of fate and its master.

© AAG

There are some situations in which we are unable to take action. Losses, bereavements, disappointments, disease—these may strike at any hour with terrible force. All we can do is to brace ourselves against the shock. Those are our anvil moments.

But there are other situations in which we have the power to act: and that is when we need all our firmness and singleness of purpose. We must strike quickly, strike hard, and above all strike in the right place.

With these two qualities—patience and strength—we can endure all things.

the Middle East."

He added: "I must say that ... Sen. (Barry) Goldwater (R-Ariz.), ... and former Vice President (Walter) Mondale, along with the former CIA director saying that we should come out of Lebanon, that had its impact."

Goldwater and Mondale, also running for the Democratic presidential nomination, have urged Reagan to withdraw American troops from Lebanon. Three former directors of the CIA Sunday said similarly.

THE SYRIAN Foreign Ministry issued a statement saying it was releasing Goodman as a step to "facilitate the withdrawal of American troops from Lebanon."

The statement said Syria "hopes that the U.S. government will take measures to end its military involvement in Lebanon, such involvement which has contributed pain and suffering to Lebanon, to the area, and to American people..."

At one of his news conferences in Damascus, Goodman said the first my wife."

GOODMAN SAID he learned he was being released only minutes before he was freed. "I was told I would be released on several other occasions," but had waited in vain until this time, he said.

The Syrian statement today cautioned that Syrian forces will continue to "confront very firmly all provocative and aggressive acts that it may be subject to."

Jackson called the agreement to release the airman "a giant step toward peace." He said it was "built upon President Assad's willingness to put Lt. Goodman's predicament in the humanitarian category."

JACKSON MET with Assad for 90 minutes Monday 10 miles south of Damascus at a villa where Assad is recovering from a heart ailment attributed to fatigue.

U.S. Ambassador Robert Paganelli, who had worked to arrange Goodman's release, was asked today what effect he thought Jackson had had.

"I don't know. I'm sure it helped. Reverend Jackson has a great deal of respect in this part of the world,"

Third Annual Family Reunion of Oliver George and Mae Juanita Biddle Family Descendants
Agust 30, 1987
Potato Creek State Park

About four years ago daughters of Lewis Biddle thought it would be nice if the families could start an annual reunion so that the families could get to know one and other.

So the girls and Ray Patnaude Jr., son of Beulah (Biddle) Patnaude started the ball rolling. And here we are on our third. Each time we have a few more in attendance. Everyone has such a good time they look forward to the next. Maybe as we go forward, we can include the cousins and etc. (their children) and all of the other Biddle Clan. (Getting to know you).

The first reunion was held at Studebaker Park at Bendix Woods, near South Bend, Ind. The second held at Potato Creek State Park, located between Lakeville, North Liberty and South Bend, Ind. The third, due to such a nice location, it was decided to hold it ther also. The park offers swimming, hiking, running, biking, walking, just about what ever you wish to do. The day does go fast.

The first reunion was hosted by Jean Borders, daughter of Lewis. The second was hosted by Ivan Biddle and Mary Jo Wife of Ivan and his daughters Elizabeth and Kathy. The third ishosted by Kay Wood, daughter of Vera Biddle Cooper and Beulah Biddle Patnaude..

This year I suggested or thought it might be nice to have each family bring a picture of them so that we might have faces put to the names. Along with the information of who they were. (What family they were part of).

Biddle reunions are not new. I found in my geneology research where our Grandparents, Joseph and Sarah, had a family reunion in the very early 1900's.(from a clipping from the Lafayette paper).Joseph was born in Lafayette, Sarah born in Ind. His father was Lemuel born in Penn. his mother Anna born in Ky. Anna's parents were born in Maryland. Lemuel's father was born in New Jersey, his mother in Penn.There names were Dr. William George and Sarah (Underwood) Biddle.
Sarah(Boothroyd) wife of Joseph, her mother was Lavinia Smith.
Anna, wife of Lemuel, her maiden was Eldridge..
Our father Oliver was born in Lafayette, Ind. Tippecanoe County.
Our mother Mae was born in Independence, Ind. Warren County.
Her parents were Elmer and Rose (Southard) Williams.
The Williams and the Southards families are connected to the Coates, Morphew, Gaskill, Barr, Odle and etc. Williams were very much involved in the Civil, some died in battle also George Boothroyds brother died in the Civil War as Southard. There is Post in Delphi dedicated in the name of Boothroyd. Boothroyd Post. Also a statue in the Park in his honor. The Governor of Indiana Dedicated it.. This info was obtained from the Library (Civil War).

I am at the end of my paper so must put this to an end, but cannot until I thank our Saint Harry, who has done all of my printing for the mailing you received. He is a friend of Mary Jo. Thank YOU HARRY.

FROM A DICTIONARY OF BRITISH SUR*NAMES

Aldrich, Aldrick, Aldridge, Alldridge, Allderidge, Elderidge, Eldridge, Elrick, Oldridge:: These sur-names may be local in origin, but usually derive frome OE AELFric elf-ruler or Aedelric noble ruler. Both survived the Conquest, by which time the first element had often been reduced to Al- or El- and consquently cannot be distinguished..

Beadle or constable, messor or hayward--it isimpossible to separate their duties for the terms were interchangeable. He was either chosen by the lord or elected by the homage, one of the lesser men of the village. He had to make all summonses ordered by the hallmote, levy distresses, take pledges, make attachments and collect fines. In fact, he acted as the village policeman. The surname survives in various forms. Beadel and Beedle may b from either OFr bedel or OE bydel. The latter has also given Biddell, Biddle, Buddell and Buddles. Other possible meanings are Messenger of jûstice, under-bailiff, tipstaff, apparitor, mace-bearer, crier or usher of a law-court, town-crier. The alternative Sargeant (OFr sergent, seriant) was a bery common surname, probably in general servant, latinised as sweviens. It was commonly used of the king's sergeants, tenants by military service under the rank of a knight and of officers of justice,e.g. William Reculf bailiff of Worcester (1320 Pat) and John de Halteby constable of Ipswich (1315 Pat). Constable (OFr cunestable, from Lat comes stabuli count of the stable) may also denote the chief officer of the household or court, governor of a royal fortress, military officer and parish constable.

Beadel, Beadell, Beadle, Beadles, Beddall, Bedell, Bedells, Bedle, Beedell, Beedle, Biddell, Biddle, Biddles, Buddell, Buddle, Buddles:: Brun Bydel 11th KCD 1353 (So): Brictmarus Bedel L)__DB (Sf); Erneis bedel, Luinus, Richard budel 1148 Winton(Ha); Ailsi le Bedell 1175 P )Lei); Bobert le Budel 1327 SRSt: Margaret ate Budeles 1332 SRSr: Richard Bedle 1541 Roch W: Richard Byddell 1559 FFHu: John Biddle 1655 FrY; William Beadle,.John Beddall 1674 HTSf Adam Buddle 1676 EA (OS) iv..OE bydel 'beadle'. OE y, in ME dialects,.became i,.e,.or u, all of which have survived. Some examples of bedel are from OFr bedel (Lat bedellus),.especially in counties such as Hants where OEy became u. These surnames may also be late forms of Bedwell. For Buddle, v. also Boodle..

Boothroyd: John del Botherode, Adam de Buderude 1274, 1296 Wak; Richard Buthroid 1627 Rothwell PR (Y). From Boothroyd (WRYorks).

Smith, Smithe, Smyth, Smythe,.Smye: (i) Ecceard Smio c975 OEByn (Du); Aefwaed þe Smith c1199 ib. (So); William le Lmyth 1275 AssSo; Julian' le Smithes 1279 R H ()); John Smye 1524 SRSF. OE smio 'smith, blacksmith,.farrier'. Early examples are common in the Latin form Faber. (ii) William atte Smithe, Thomas de la Smythe 1313 AD i (Sx); Robert atte Smyth 1332 SRSx. 'Worker at the smithy', OE smippe

Underwood: William de Underwode 1188 BuryS (Sf); William Underwude de Clokton' 1219 AssY; William Under the Wode 1332 SRSt. Either one who lived below a wood on a hillside, or within a place so named, as Underwood (Derby, Notts). Underhill Henry Underhulle 1275 SRWo; Geoffrey Undrehille 13th Rams (Ju); Robert de Underhull 1268 AssSo. 'One who lived at the foot of a hill' or at a place called Underhill as in Devon..

Williams, Willems, Welliam, Fitzwilliam, Fitzwilliams: Robertus filius Willelmi 1086 DB; Richard Willam 1279 RH ()); John Wylyam 1296 SRSx; Rauf le fuiz William 1299 Whitby (Y); Henry Fitz William 1300 LoCt; Ralph Willem, Willeam 1304, 1315 AD vi (K); Thomas Willames 1307 AssSt; Robert Williames 1309 ib; Thomas William 1327 SRSf.. Southern and Sothern are from OE suderne 'southern', the man from the south. For this NED has one metathesized form southren c1386 and southron, originally Scottish and northern, from c 1470.. This it regards as an alteration of southern with the ending probably modified on the analogy of Briton, Saxon.. The above forms, much earlier, and mostly from Scandinavian counties, suggest that some may derive from ON sudroenn 'southern'. The intrusive e of Sotheran, etc., found in most forms is probably due to the strongly trilled northern r. The sole example of this form in NED is from the norther Cursor Mundi (a1300), sotherin englis..

Decked out in their 1840s fashions, eighth-graders at Holy Family School wait for their scrambled eggs to finish cooking over an open fire. Their outdoor lunch was part of Pioneer Day Monday at the school.

SOUTH BEND — In 1843, students wrote assignments on a slate board, ate lunch that consisted of bean soup, cornbread and apple cider and attended classes in a one-room schoolhouse.

Catholic education also had its humble beginnings 150 years ago. In an attempt the show students today what it was like to attend a Catholic school in 1843, Holy Family School had Pioneer Days Monday. The program was part of the yearlong celebration of 150 years of Catholic education.

Students got a taste of frontier living by learning how to make candles and dolls and by doing assignments on slate boards.

"We are trying to recreate what school life would be like at that time," said Bob Budzinski, assistant principal and eighth-grade teacher.

The Holy Family eighth-grade class even got a chance to get a taste of what a student might eat in 1843. The first thing students learned is that frontier students probably brought their own lunch to school.

And students in those days did not eat pizza. They were more likely to have a lunch of bean soup, cornbread, an apple and some cider.

If a student wanted to butter the cornbread, he or she would probably have to pull out the butter churner and make the butter.

The students enjoyed the opportunity to have an outdoor lunch on a cool, breezy day. Many of them were dressed in the clothes that were worn during that period. The girls wore long, flowered dresses while many of the boys wore overalls.

And while students enjoyed learning more about the frontier, what they learned made them more grateful to be going to school in 1993.

"I would not have liked to live back then," said Michael Sosinski, "They don't have all of the fun stuff we have now."

David Kil agreed that frontier students had it pretty rough. But David said it was fun learning new things about the 1800s.

The entire school was involved in the project. Rachel Balla said her English teacher asked students to recite words and sentences out loud like a teacher would have done 150 years ago.

Melanie Solnoky said there were some good things about Pioneer Days.

"I liked eating outdoors (cooked) over the fire. That was cool," she said.

But when asked if she could have survived on the frontier, Melanie and several other girls all said "No."

support is not assured.

"It would be politically disastrous for us to issue the bonds without announcing how much we have pledged," he said.

Local officials should consider hiking the hotel-motel tax to help pay off the Century Center portion of the bond issue, Slavinskas said. The center now receives about $1 million a year from the 5 percent tax on local lodgings.

Lodging taxes in other cities run as high as 9 or 10 percent, Slavinskas said.

The council is slated to vote Monday on the proposed lease. The committee recommendation is not binding.

Committee members backing it were chairman Roland Kelly, D-3rd; Slavinskas, and Loretta J. Duda, D-at large. Cleophus Washington, D-2nd, abstained from voting.

The former Whitko Middle School student's plea bargain was formally submitted to Kosciusko Superior Court Judge Bruce Burner on Monday.

The judge scheduled another hearing for Dec. 16 to decide whether to sentence Ousley under the terms of the plea agreement.

The hearing could be postponed if the county probation department cannot complete its pre-sentence investigation in time, according to Duane Huffer, the court-appointed attorney representing Ousley.

If Burner rejects the plea agreement, then Ousley would be ordered to stand trial on the murder charges.

Ousley is charged with killing his father, Joby Ousley, and his mother, Bonnie Ousley, side the Kosciusko County Jail, where he will remain until the local court activity concludes.

The plea agreement calls for Ousley to receive 30-year prison sentences for each death, and the sentences would be served back-to-back. Indiana law permits inmates to be released after serving half of their sentence by giving two days of credit for each day served.

Consequently, Ousley could be released from prison 30 years from now, said Dan Hampton, the deputy prosecutor handling the case.

If Ousley ends up spending most of his young adult years in prison, Hampton said, "There will have to be some check on his behavior" after his release.

Hotel plans for Ind. 23 irk neighbors

GRANGER — James and Beverly Reynolds first considered building a motel near Indiana 23 and the Indiana Toll Road exit as long as a decade ago.

When James Reynolds saw the land, he didn't want anyone else to have it. So he bought it that same day.

The Reynolds planned to build a 36-room motel on three acres there in 1989. But neighbors protested, and the Reynolds lost their battle to develop the land by a one-vote margin at the County Council.

Now the Reynolds, co-owners of the Granger Tap & Grill with their son James Jr., want to construct a 64-room motel on five acres at the same location. And neighbors are saying the same thing again, only twice as loud.

"They (neighbors) didn't want it then at half the size and they don't

Third-graders make ink from berries Wednesday at Elm Road School in Mishawaka as they learned about life as the Pilgrims knew it. MISHAWAKA

Elm Road third-graders learned Wednesday that the simple act of writing a signature has changed tremendously since Pilgrim children wrote their names.

To highlight their week of studying the English Puritans who founded Plymouth Colony in Massachusetts in 1620, thirty-seven students mashed cherries, blackberries and blueberries to make ink, as Pilgrim children did.

Sarah Smith said she was getting quite a workout, but classmate David Loftus said smashing the fruit was easy for him because he has muscles. He pulled up his sleeve and flexed to emphasize his point.

Using wooden spoons, the children squashed the fruit in strainers and gathered the juice, which they mixed with a half teaspoon each of vinegar and salt.

The result was red or purple ink that at first proved frustrating to use.

The children started trying to write their biblically inspired Pilgrim names, such as Obadiah, Ruth, Jeremiah and Faith, given to them by teachers Susan Baute and Jean Anderson.

Using wooden spoons, the children squashed the fruit in strainers and gathered the juice, which they mixed with a half teaspoon each of vinegar and salt. The result was red or purple ink that at first proved frustrating to use.

The whittled points on their stick pencils wouldn't hold the right amount of ink, so their letters came out blotchy or too faint to read.

"I'm very frustrated," Krista Whitaker said.

"I think it's too thin," Amber Bell said of the ink.

The pencils worked much better after Anderson and Baute suggested the children turn them upside down and write with the square end.

They were experimenting, just as the Pilgrims did, Anderson said.

They wrote their Pilgrim names and copied the Golden Rule, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you," from their construction paper versions of horn books. Colonial students carried horn books — wood paddles covered with thin pieces of animal horns — inscribed with the alphabet and other important lessons.

As the children worked, Anderson and Baute reminded them to think like Pilgrims and maintain good posture, be polite, share and discuss how fortunate they were to have found the berries before the animals did. They addressed Anderson and Baute as "ma'am" all day.

Baute said the girls in her class are more willing to go back to colonial times than the boys are. The boys like the idea of hunting to put food on the table, but are turned off by the idea of back-breaking farm work, she said.

The hard work appeals to the girls, and they love the idea of wearing petticoats and long dresses, she said.

here was a hearing on the bond ie Tuesday. Following the more n three hours of testimony, ring officers Katrina Hall and vid Hurst toured the Parkview enile Center at 1921 Northside d., along with two critics of the detention center.

In reaction to the hearing, Frederick said he believes supporters of the project succeeded in explaining the importance of building a new detention center.

Critics have argued the proposed project is loaded with unnecessary frills that have turned the center into a governmental complex instead of just a detention center.

The detention center is expected to include a probate courtroom and rooms for the county prosecutor, attorneys and caseworkers. It also would include a gymnasium.

Frederick said the current facility lacks space for those needed

Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil: my cup runneth over.

Fables Of The Famous

St. Louis Paper "Post"

When the late DUKE OF WINDSOR, as the youthful Prince of Wales, came to the United States for the first time, a ball was given in his honor at a Main Line mansion in Philadelphia.

The cream of the city's society attended. The hostess stood at the Prince's side and presented the guests as they stepped forward. First in line was a gentleman of patrician bearing. The hostess whispered in the Prince's ear:

"He's a Biddle."

Next to be presented was a lady who was equally distingue.

"She's a Biddle, too," again whispered the hostess.

One blue-blooded Philadelphian after another was presented to the royal guest. Each was a Biddle or was related to a Biddle. His bewilderment complete, the Prince turned to his hostess and pleaded:

"Tell me, what is a Biddle?"

Dear Beulah,

Sorry for these awful copies,
The print is dim in the packet book plus we need a new copying machine.

Didn't get any Xmas cards off as Bill got sick & was put in the hospital Dec. 13th.
Had a mild heart attack.
Had one blockage - 70% - which was found by an angiogram - & they did the balloon surgery technique & opened that up -
He is back to work, feeling good, but still needs to pace himself.
He is still broadcasting the B.C. games etc.

Of course we are watching our diets - Both need too!

Happy New Year
Come see us - you two please

Love, Stuff,
Dade

Irene - just today gave me your check & request - or
I would have mailed it sooner

In the future if you want prompt attention - write me!
ha! ha!

I'm really ashamed to mail
these poor copies.
Hope we get a new copying machine this year!

Hi Emma

Sorry for the delay in writing. I have some information, cant remember if I sent it to you already, so will send now.

William & Sarah were divorced sometime around 1847 or 1848. He remarried someone name of Plantina. I belivee Sarah may have married an Isaac Beesy - June 22, 1848 but not sure. In May, 1859 - William & Plantina were live-ing in Champaign Co, Ill but the Co. Clerk their couldn't find any record on them. Matilda & John Freind were married in Pennsylvania in 1843. He died Nov. 11, 1878 she died Dec. 25, 1904.

Lemuel Biddle - B - Feb. 18, 1827 Pittsburg he was a carriage painter. Lucella Anna Aldridge his wife born - Sept. 3, 1836 in Frankfort, Ky - D - March 13, 1908. Their oldest child - Comilla Jane Biddle - married first Henry W. Moore then Samuel Thompson. Still nothing on William & Emeline. I have his dates not a thing on her. I have a dati on their daughter I think. Mary C. Biddle married James Mc Cormick - Oct. 6, 1891.

Comilla Jane - 2nd husband.

Samuel S. Thompson - B - Sep. 14, 1856 Ill.
1st wife Jennie Mack B - 1861 D - 1890.
married to Comilla Jane - June 8, 1891. He died. March 21, 1939 in Lafayette his parents Aaron Thompson + Ella Clack?

Dollie Ellen Moore Holliday married 2nd time to Lewis W. Nalley - he was born March 17, 1862 in Battle Ground - m - Nov. 1936 he died Feb. 13 1951 in Lafayette.

Rich thinks your husband's nose looks a little like his mothers. I pictured you both as older. I'm glad your not. Hope your family are all well. Everyone is pretty good here. My grandfather died in Dec. also my sister-in-laws mother then our Irish Setter dog was hit by car & had to be destroyed the two fellows Rich worked with were in accident 2 days before Christmas. One killed instantly.

leaving wife & 3 small daughters. Other one is still in coma. He has five children & his wife is expecting 6th in March. We hope he recovers but won't know how extensive his brain was damaged until he comes to. Rich was pall bearer day after Christmas so it was bad Dec. for us.

I've hit a dead end of William. I'll keep at it but don't know. Clarence Holliday & I were writing like crazy for awhile. He sent me lots of information. I haven't written him for a couple of months. I have obituaries for Matilda Friend - Mrs Lemuel Biddle Lemuel Biddle & Comilla Jane Biddle Thompson. Somewhere around here is one for John Milton & his wife Jane & write up for Henry Clamberlain (not obituary) & obituary for Catherine "Kate" Chamberlain I'll make copies for you if you want. I've got to close for now. Write soon.

Please research and provide the total costs' required to obtain any information you may have in the way of births, deaths, wills and history, etc. on Arney and Abigail (Ogden) Biddle.

Arney was the son of Joseph Biddle and Rebecca, daughter of John Arney, of Freehold, Monmouth County, New Jersey. He was born in Springfield township, Burlington County, New Jersey. Arney is also the grandson of William and Lydia (Wardell) Biddle (New Jersey marriage records, page 37, indicate the year 1691, Shrewsbury, New Jersey) and the great-grandson of William and Sarah (Kempe) Biddle via London, England to Burlington City, New Jersey in the year of 1681.

Abigail Ogden wife of Arney Biddle, was born in Salem County on April 23, 1733. She was a daughter of Jonathan Ogden, who died in 1735, and his sole heir. Jonathan Ogden was a presbyterian from New England. He settled at Greenwich, Salem County (located in Cumberland County since 1747/8).

According to the New Jersey Colonial Documents, page 24, Arney and Abigail's marriage license is recorded Jan. 3, 1754. But Arney's date of birth or death (& cause) are unknown to me but his wife's (Abigail) dates for birth of April 23, 1733 and death of Dec. 28, 1801 have been mentioned.

The printed records indicate they had the following five (5) children:

|---|---|
| Elizabeth, | M. Jonathan Lupton |
| Arney II, | M. Jane Taylor |
| Jonathan, | M. Rachel Bowen |
| Amy, | M. James Naylor |
| Rebecca, | M. 1st - William Kinkade |
| | M. 2nd - Stacy Bowen |
| Catharine, | M. Samuel Taylor |

Any information, on the aforementioned items would be greatly appreciated (especially Arney's date of birth and death (and cause) and Abigail's will.

Sincerly,

Rupert Biddle

Dear Walter:

I am having an interesting correspondence with my friend, James Biddle, of Wallingford, Penna. a direct descendant of William and Sarah, regarding the exact location of the first Biddle home near Kinkora. He contends that ~~the~~ a little house now standing on the high bank of the river, near the former station at Kinkora, is the original house and it is so stated in the book which the family published at the time of the Biddle Reunion in 1931. That, of course, may have been the site of the Biddle house but it is perfectly ridiculous to claim that it is the original house. Our friend, Nat Ewan has gone through it and examined it carefully and states that it does not have an earmark of a 17th, Century house. I claim that it is not large enough to have held Quarterly Meeting gatherings from 1686 to 1711.

I still believe that the Biddle home was on or near the site of the Beans home and that the lane lead out to the old York Road, laid out in 1684-6, but cannot as yet prove it. On consulting the Topographical Map, I find that the highest mount in the neighborhood of the Beans' home is north of the road from Kinkora to Three Tuns-probably about where the William C. Pray house now stands. This would have been the logical place for the first Biddle home, as it would be nearer the center of his plantation (500 acres) and nearer the old York road. I am going to write to Mr. Pray and ask him whether he has ever heard that the Biddle home was located in that neighborhood.

Nat Ewan and I recently visited the Beans' home and he became very much interested in the old fireplace, which I carefully measured as 10 feet, two inches in width. It is one of the three largest in the county. The Biddle plantation had a frontage of 65 chains on the Delaware and ran back "into the woods" 77 chains-almost a mile. This would include the Pray location. ~~xx~~The fact that W.B. named his home, Mount Hope, suggests that his house was on a mount, rather than than on river bank or bluff. If I learn anything definite I will so advise thee.

Thy friend,
George

Dear Ms Patnaude,

Thank you very much for your letter of February 1993 and the book order for our Bible records. I do not have any listing for club members who are researching Biddle, Collins or Underwood. If I should come across some, perhaps in another listing, I will let you know. The club members who have listed Taylor as a line on which they are actively working are:

Elizabeth Albert, 3001 Timber Trail, Asheville, NC 28804.
Rosemary Hyde, 43 Mercier Pl., Berkeley Heights, NJ 07922.
Beverly Nelson, 12125 Robinhood Lane, Snohomish, WA 98290.
Patricia Zipf, 12 Oakland Rd., Jamesburg, NJ 08831.

I wish you luck in your research. Perhaps correspondence with one of these people would be helpful.

Yours truly,

Peggy Apostolos

Thomas Underwood

Shortly after the Civil War, Thomas Underwood and three partners launched a Lafayette insurance agency in a brick building in the 300 block of Ferry Street.

Born in 1829 in Washington, D.C., Underwood came to Indiana to work in his brother-in-law's hardware store in Cambridge City. He opened his own hardware store south of the Lafayette courthouse in the early 1850s.

Underwood was elected as a charter member of the Lafayette City Council in 1853 and served as the city's first fire chief. By 1857, he had organized four volunteer fire companies. Property owners subscribed for fire protection from one of the four companies.

When the Civil War began, Underwood joined the 22nd Indiana Regiment and remained throughout the war. When he returned to Indiana in 1865, he started his insurance business.

He died in 1888, but The Underwood Agency exists to this day — one of Lafayette's most venerable and respected businesses.

Coat of Arms

Biddle

Historiography

The Biddle Coat of Arms illustrated left was drawn by an heraldic artist from information officially recorded in ancient heraldic archives. Documentation for the Biddle Coat of Arms design can be found in Burke's General Armory . Heraldic artists of old developed their own unique language to describe an individual Coat of Arms. In their language, the Arms (shield) is as follows:

"Ar. three double brackets sa."

Above the shield and helmet is the Crest which is described as:

"A demi heraldic tiger ramp. gu. ducally gorged or."

When translated the blazon also describes the original colors of the Biddle Arms and Crest as it appeared centuries ago.

Family mottos are believed to have originated as battle cries in medieval times.

A Motto was not recorded with this Biddle Coat of Arms.

Individual surnames originated for the purpose of more specific identification.

The four primary sources for second names were: occupation, location, father's name, or personal characteristics. The surname Biddle appears to be occupational in origin, and is believed to be associated with the English, meaning, "the crier or usher in a court", and "one who was the town crier or constable." The supplementary sheet included with this report is designed to give you more information to further your understanding of the origin of names. Different spellings of the same original surname are a common occurrence. Dictionaries of surnames indicate probable spelling variations of Biddle to be Bedell, Bedel, Biddell, and Beadle . Although bearers of the old and distinguished Biddle name comprise a small fraction of the population there are a number who have established for it a significant place in history.

They include: GOOFFREY LE BIDDLE (Bedel), from the county of Kent, is listed in the "Hundred Rolls" in the year 1273. JOHN BIDDLE (1615-1662) Founder of "Unitarianism" in England. NICHOLAS BIDDLE (1750-1778) Born in America, he joined the British Navy in 1770 and served as a midshipman in the same vessel with Lord Nelson. Upon his return to America in 1776, he was appointed Captain of the "Andrew-Doria", and captured several prizes from the British. GEORGE BIDDLE (b. 1885) American painter and sculptor whose works are represented in many U.S. and foreign museums. He frescoed five panels in the Department of Justice Building in Washington, D.C. JOHN BIDDLE (1789-1859) U.S. Indian Agent at Green Bay, Wisconsin in 1821. He was later Territorial Delegate in Congress, from 1829 to 1839, when he was appointed Register of the Land Office in Detroit. CLEMENT BIDDLE (1740-1814) Revolutionary soldier and merchant who was descended from WILLIAM BIDDLE, a shoemaker and Colonel in Cromwell's Army. He came to America in 1681, and by purchase from William Penn, established himself as one of the proprietors of West New Jersey. CLEMENT, with his older brother, OWEN, signed the "Non-Importation Agreement" of 1765, and for the next ten years was active in the Patriotie in Philadelphia.

No genealogical representation is intended or implied by this report and it does not represent individual lineage or your family tree.

The Annual Review, a double sheet of e San Francisco Journal of Commerce is ceived, and is a very creditable publica-on.

Let everybody attend the social dance at e city hall, to-morrow evening, Saturday. iven by Prof. W. L. Bennett, lately from ortland.

Frank Hay, the handsome young railway lerk, is now on the route from this place Portland, in the place of Al. Hussey, re-gned.

Arthur Brassfield, of Newport, who was student in the Agricultural College last eason, is in the city this week visiting old cquaintances.

Matthas Trapp was in town the past week e says the wagon road along the Yaquina very bad in many places, and at some oints there is no road.

Quarterly meeting, at the College Chap-l embracing Saturday and Sabbath, reaching Saturday at 7 p. m., and Sabbath norning and evening by Rev. E. G. Mithell.

Mr. F. M. Ghormley lately from Roach-lale Ind. and recently from Forest Grove, Oregon, has been in Corvallis during the week. He has located a place over near Yaquina Bay.

Mrs. H. A. Atwood has leased the Temperance Restaurant in this city and has taken charge of the same. When you want a first-class meal call at the Temperance Restaurant.

According to our calendar, spring begun last Sunday, and all nature is evidence of the fact that spring in reality is here. The usual disease following its approach will probably be next in order; the disease, however is unknown to editors.

Sig. Sichel, formerly in the mercantile business in this city, but now engaged in the banking business in Goldendale, W. T., visited his sister, Mrs. J. Senders, and old acquaintances in this city the first of the week, after an absence of about four years.

Mrs. Canan, the obliging hostess at the Occidental Hotel, went to Portland Wednesday morning. It is her intention to make arrangements on this trip for an Eastern trip to visit her aged mother and the scenes of her childhood in Ohio.

Mr. Henry Elliot formerly a resident of this place, now a resident of Eastern Oregon, came down last week to visit his daughter, Mrs. E. A. Grimm. He was accompanied by his daughter Miss Minnie. Mr. Elliot is very much pleased with eastern Oregon.

Last Friday evening M. S. Neugass, in the absence of his mother and sister, entertained a few of his friends. The evening was spent in social intercourse, vocal and instrumental music, dancing, whist and refreshments. At a reasonable hour all departed rendering the unanimous verdict, "guilty as charged"— a very entertaining host.

The wife of Hon. R. M. Veatch, of Lane county, died at Salem 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon of measels, which Mr. Veatch contracted while attending the legislature. The body was put aboard the train and removed to Cottage Grove for burial. Mrs. Veatch was the daughter of John Curran, of Lane county, and was 39 years of age. Her titude of friends to mourn his departure to that bourne from whence no traveler returneth. Requiescat in pace.

Cash versus Credit.

Knowing it to be for my best interests, and believing it to be for the best interests of my customers, I shall continue to sell for cash only. The following are a few of my reasons: First—Taking no risks I can afford to sell at a lower rate of profit. Second—I will not be at the expense of keeping a book-keeper (seventy-five dollars a month.) Third—I will not have to spend a week out of every month trying to make collections. Fourth—I will have time to give more attention to my business and consequently give better satisfaction to my customers, and finally I solicit only cash trade.

J. M. NOLAN.

Wells Waftings.

Railroad doing a slaughtering business—killed a ewe week before last, and two fine pigs this week, the property of Arthur Johnson.

Farmers who have ploughing to do are busy at it.

The saw mill up on the creek is turning out a large quantity of lumber every day, The mill is run by the Dillon Brothers.

The coyotes have been committing depredations lately in the neighborhood. Mr. C. Vanderpool succeeded in catching one a few days ago in a steel trap.

There is be another dance shortly at Mr. P. Millers. I will let you know in my ne t at what date. Then look out for the stale cake.

HANK.

The series of meeting now in progress at the Evangelical church, this city, are to be continued during next week. Rev. Bowersox expects to be assisted by other ministers.

Dr. Wm. Biddle of this city, is very ill, and failing fast. His children have been sent for.

It is an ill wind that blows good to nobody. The philosopher of the Minneapolis Tribune airily remarks: "The recent blizzard was a calamity in a great many respects, but inasmuch as it interrupted a base ball convention at Indianapolis and caused a holy calm at Springfield, Illinois, all will be forgiven."

The Yamhill Reporter claims that the will of 1209 voters out of a total of 2000 was ignored by the action of the house of representatives in tabling the bill permitting the voters of Yamhill to decide the question of the re-location of the county seat.

The Salem Statesmen says: The money is rolling out of the state treasury at a very rapid rate, and the stream is only just started. Mr. Hirsch said that at least 300 pounds of gold alone has been carried away in one day.

For a choice steak or roast, go to C. D. Rayburn's market, where you are sure to get what you call for.

A. M. Gibson, division engineer of the Oregon Pacific railroad, is in the city, and proposes a visit to Puget Sound and perhaps to Southern Oregon, before he returns to his duties at Corvallis. He reports that great care has been exercised by Chief Engineer Tucker and others with the Oregon Pacific to make it a substantial railway line. He says it will be one of the best roads in

Statement of the condition of the affairs of said estate:

This Executor respectfully represents that the condition of the estate is such that it may now be brought to a close as far as the administration thereof by this Executor is concerned.

Charles Toy McFarland, devisee named in the will of said Camilla McFarland deceased, having died, the whole of the property both real and personal left, descended in and vested in Platina Biddle and Mary J. Page, Legatees and devisees, as provided by the terms of said will, subject only to a Legacy of $1000.00 to be paid the Congregational Church of Albany, Oregon, and the further legacy of $1000.00 to be paid Geo. W. Biddle on the death of Platina Biddle and Mary J. Page.

The Legacy of $1000.00 now due Congregational Church is by the terms of said will now due and this Executor asks that he be permitted to pay the same, filing the receipt of the trustees of said Congregational church as a voucher in this his final settlement. That the conditions for the vesting of the $1000.00 Legacy in Geo. W. Biddle has not yet happened and that the same will not happen until the death of Platina Biddle and Mary J. Page. With this sole exception the estate is entirely administered upon, and there is no necessity of it being longer kept open. This Executor suggest that the whole of the property now belonging to said estate under and by the terms of said will be confirmed and decreed in said Plantina Biddle and Mary J. Page subject the charge and lien of said Legacy to Geo. W. Biddle of $1000.00

That there is now on hands the whole of the real property, and the sum of $1746.62 for distribution and confirmation to said Platina Biddle and Mary J. Page.

This Executor therefore asks that the title to the whole of the real property, owned by and belonging to, Camilla McFarland, deceased, at the time of her death, and as fully described in the Inventory of the estate of said deceased on file herein, be confirmed and decreed to be the property in fee simple of Plantina

Biddle and Mary J. Page, and their heirs forever the said real property belonging to the estate of said Camilla McFarland, deceased, and hereby decreed to be the property in fee simple of said Plautina Biddle and Mary J. Page, is described as follows, to wit;

The north half and the south west quarter of block number 91. in Monteith's Southern addition to the City of Albany, in Linn County, Oregon; and also commencing at the south west corner of Lot No. 7. in block three in the City of Albany, Oregon; and running thence easterly along the South boundary line of said block three (3), twenty four (24) feet & ten (10) inches more or less to the middle of the brick wall, the same being the East wall of the brick building now standing on the premises: thence Northerly through the middle of said brick wall and parallel to the west boundary line of said lot seven (7) in said block three (3) one hundred to the alley: thence westerly on the northern boundary line of said Lot seven (7) twenty four (24) feet and ten inches more or less to the north west corner of said lot seven (7); thence Southerly on the western boundary line of said lot seven (7) one hundred feet to the place of beginning, (the East Wall being a party wall) also the following, Commencing at the south west corner of lot Two (2) in block 3, in Albany, Oregon: running thence easterly on the south line of said lot forty four & two thirds (44 2/3) feet; thence northerly and parallel with the west boundary line of said lot 2, one hundred feet more or less to the street, (in which is located the Rail road), the same being the north boundary line of said lot 2.; thence westerly along the north boundary line of said lot 2. to the northwest corner of said lot 2; thence southerly along the western boundary line of said lot 2. to the place of beginning. Also the north half of Lot Two (2) in block one (1) in Mc. Cully's addition to the town of Harrisburg Oregon.

That the money on hands to wit, the sum of $1746.62 be divided equally between Plautina Biddle and Mary J. Page, that is to say the sum of $873.31 to Plautina Biddle and the sum of $873.31 to Mary J. Page. and that such provision be made for the securing of the payment of said Legacy of $1000.00 to said Geo. W. Biddle as to the above entitled Court may seem just and proper.

That a day and place be set for the hearing of objections if any to this final account, and for a complete settlement of this Estate and that upon such hearing and settlement, that said Court confirm and approve this final account of said

Dr. J. L. Hill, the 8 said executor of the said estate of Camilla M^c. Farland deceased, and that at such time an order be also made discharging this Executor from his trust as such Executor and exonerating and discharging him and his bondsmen from all further liability on their undertaking of file herein, and such other and proper orders as to said Court may seem meet and proper in the premises to the end that said estate may be fully declared administered upon and settled.

Geo. W. Wright. Atty. for the Executor.

Approved & allowed, Executor to pay O Biddle $873.31 & Mary Page $873.31, and upon filing receipts to be discharged Oct 8th 1891, Camilla McFarland dec'd.

To the Hon. D.R.N. Blackburn
County Judge of said County.

Mary J. Page. Respectfully shows to your Honor. That she is one of the Legatees named in the last will and testament of said deceased and was by its provisions appointed executrix with Dr. J. L. Hill as executor, of said estate
That her residence being in Lane County in said State, she did not qualify, but permitted said Dr. J. L. Hill to qualify as sole executor of said estate.
That on May 5th 1890, said Dr. J. L. Hill qualified as executor of said estate, and on May 15th 1890 filed a Partial Inventory of the Property belonging to said estate, That he is now the qualified and acting executor of said estate, That more than six months has elapsed since the date of the appointment of said Dr J. L. Hill as executor of said estate, and he has not filed an account with the Clerk of said Court showing the amount of money received by him or expended by him, nor the amount of claims presented against the estate and allowed or disallowed by him as such executor, &

That your Petitioner as one of the Legatees of said estate has made frequent demands of said Executor to render such account as required by law, but he has refused and still refuses so to do

Wherefore your petitioner prays an order of the Court that said Executor may be required by a citation ordered by this Honorable Court to appear and render an account of his doings as such executor in manner and form as provided by law.

When CIA job ends, spies go into the cold

By Patricia O'Brien
Inquirer Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—They came in young and tough in the '50s, with a taste for high adventure and total loyalty to their employer, the Central Intelligence Agency.

As officers in the clandestine division, they spent years leading double lives—vanishing after dinner for secret meetings, worrying about losing their cover on overseas assignments and telling acquaintances only that they worked "in one of the government agencies."

They didn't have many friends. CIA officers can't afford to be friendly with people outside the agency. But they paid that price willingly, because they were disciplined, contained men who had a sense of commitment and purpose.

Now they are out of the agency, either because they quit or retired or because they got caught in the sudden wave of recent firings, which will number about 100.

So dozens of resumes are being sent to companies that are afraid to hire former CIA officers. Ex-agents try to explain to their children why they aren't working, and they build barbecues in their backyards to pass the time.

Whatever the circumstances of their departures, they have found that leaving "the company" is a lonely, jarring and embittering experience.

"When I was pink-slipped on Halloween," an officer stationed in the Midwest said, "the bottom fell out of everything. I'm 43 years old, I've spent 18 years of my life with the CIA, and I can't find a job. I've sent out resumes everywhere, but employers tell me I haven't got any marketable skills. That doesn't feel so hot at 43."

Eric Biddle Jr., 50, one of the Philadelphia Biddles, is a tall, narrow-shouldered man who keeps his sideburns long and leans towards a jaunty, macho style. He knows that leaving the CIA isn't coming in from the cold. It's being thrown out into it.

He quit in 1960, seeing no chance for advancement and growing restless under the strict rules of secrecy.

"Our whole lives were built around the CIA," he said, "and I didn't want to live my entire life underground. You get paranoid. You have to be in that business."

The triggering factor, he said, was the CIA's refusal to grant him permission to marry a Greek woman trying to recruit. The children did not question it. They thought their father did something boring and unimportant, because he never mentioned his work.

When he retired from the CIA three years ago at age 47, it was with good wishes and a $15,000 annual pension. But that didn't help much.

"If you don't have a job lined up when you leave, you're in trouble," he said. "The kids worried more than I realized at the time that I wasn't working. Your father HAS to work. It's bad enough to have a job he can't explain, but when he doesn't have any — that's worse."

Where do most former CIA officers eventually find work? Some gravitate to college campuses, usually in administrative rather than teaching positions. "We're sort of a natural place for them," said a spokesman for Georgetown University, noting that many of them have useful skills in administration, language and research.

Some land jobs as advisers for companies doing business in foreign countries. Others become salesmen or officials with security firms. And still others find work on congressional investigative committees.

"Most form or join small consulting firms to give advice on international relations to corporations," Dr. Cline said. "They come to me now, two and three a week. I'm trying to help them, but I don't know what to do. A whole CIA generation is gone."

man. More important, perhaps, he never got out from under the shadow of the CIA. Now he is suing the government for discrimination on the ground that his past as a CIA "spook" has locked him out of other responsible government jobs.

"I haven't been allowed to work at my grade level (GS-15, one of the highest civil-service rankings), because of the CIA," he said. "The government shouldn't be allowed to mistreat you in one agency for working in another. We're the only country in the world that won't protect its intelligence people, and that damages our intelligence operations.".

A spokesman for the Civil Service Commission confirmed that former CIA officers had trouble getting good government jobs, but she denied that it was because of any prejudice.

"They have to compete on the basis of education and experience, like anyone else," she said. "If they can't go into detail about their work experience, which they can't — well, that makes it more difficult."

Riddle's frustration is echoed by other former intelligence officers, whether seeking jobs in government or the private sector.

"People are afraid to hire ex-CIA officers," said Dr. Ray Cline, a former deputy director of CIA intelligence, now executive director of Georgetown University's Center For Strategic and International Studies. "Most employers think they will get into trouble, and they don't want to risk it."

A spokesman for a management-recruiting firm put part of the blame on the intelligence officers themselves.

"They come to me with resumes that are vague, and they've got grandiose ideas about what they want to do," he said. "I know they can't help the resumes. They've got skills. We can use them in sales, in data-processing, as security people for industries. But we've got to get them to knock the cinders out of their eyes and start looking realistically."

The CIA, which offers total security whithin the agency, is curiously remote about helping those returning to the outside world. "When they leave, it is not our responsibility to see what they are doing," said a CIA spokesman crisply.

Even with the disillusionment of trying to find work, ex-CIA officers remain totally loyal and nostalgic. But they acknowledge the extraordinary cost of their careers there to their personal lives.

"My first feeling was release," said one man quietly as he discussed his departure from the CIA. He is tall, distinguished-looking, with graying hair, a man who looks as if he should be sipping scotch in a magazine advertisement.

"The highest cost is between husband and wife," he said. For years, he would leave the dinner table after dessert, without comment, to meet agents h [illegible] with

Why did the Philadelphia Biddles, who could afford any dryer in the world, choose a Kenmore from Sears?

The Ernest Biddles, Jr., and their baby daughter, Silsbee, spend as much time as possible at grandmother's pool in the Main Line suburb of Gladwyne, Pennsylvania.

In the gallery near the pool, the flagstaff belonged to Napoleon. The Meissen china in the cabinet was once used by Catherine the Great.

And the clothes dryer is from Sears, Roebuck and Co.

"We were so delighted with our own Kenmore dryer, we talked Ernie's grandmother into putting one of her own near the pool," says Betsy Biddle. "It's always busy—like ours.

"We got our Kenmore dryer right after Silsbee was born. What sold me is that it adjusts automatically for permanent-pressed clothes. I hate, hate, hate to iron. But now, all I do is take the baby's clothes out, fold them and put them away—or back on her.

"And our Kenmore keeps tumbling clothes around after they're dry—so wrinkles won't set in. It does this for a few seconds every five minutes for over two hours. So I don't have to rush back if I'm out keeping up with Silsbee, our happy wanderer!"

Alexander Biddle is dead

BRYN MAWR, Pa. (AP) — Alexander Biddle, an investment broker, died Tuesday at his home here after a lengthy illness. He was 79.

He was widely known in the business and financial community for his work in expanding the Philadelphia Stock Exchange, the nation's oldest, into the Philadelphia-Baltimore-Washington Stock Exchange.

A lineal descendant of two signers of the Declaration of Independence — Dr. Benjamin Rush and Richard Stockton — Biddle, a native of Philadelphia, was graduated from Harvard in 1916, and later from the University of Pennsylvania Law School.

Following overseas service as a Field Artillery 2nd lieutenant in World War I, he returned here to launch an investment career that he carried to the executive vice presidency of the Philadelphia Stock Exchange in 1946. He became president in 1964.

Although retired, he served the exchange as a consultant until recently.

He served as a lieutenant colonel in World War II and in 1945 supervised a military government for a large section of Bavaria. Biddle was the oldest living member of The Rabbit, a men's club dating back to the American Revolution, and other clubs including the Porcellian Club of Harvard.

Surviving are two sons, Alexander Williams Biddle of Palm Beach, Fla., and David Scull Biddle of Lawrenceville, N. J. A sister, Mrs. T. Charlton Henry, lives in Philadelphia.

Services will be Saturday at 1 p.m at the Episcopal Church of the Redeemer in Bryn Mawr.

Thomas E. Beatty, residing on Biddle's Island, has this year housed 40,000 pounds of tobacco from thirty acres of ground, Joshua R. Cliver residing on the lower end of the same island has housed 25,000 pounds of tobacco from seventeen acres. The tobacco is valued at 12 to 18 cents per pound. Tobacco proves to be a very successful and valuable crop to raise on the island.

ALEXANDER BIDDLE.

FINANCIAL and transportation interests have claimed the greater portion of the time and attention of the subject of this biography, Alexander Biddle, of Philadelphia, in which city he has spent practically the whole of his almost four score years of eventful and useful life.

Alexander Biddle was born in the city of Philadelphia on the 19th day of April, 1819. He was one of the five sons of Thomas Biddle, a well known financier and the head of the firm of Thomas Biddle & Company, which conducted one of the oldest banking houses in the Commonwealth. The mother of the subject of this review was Christina Williams, who was the daughter of Brigadier-General Jonathan Williams, a relative of Benjamin Franklin and the organizer and first Superintendent of the West Point Military Academy. He was Congressman-elect from Philadelphia at the time of his death. The Biddle family was one of the earliest English families to settle in America, and in all its branches has been illustrious and patriotic, serving its adopted country with distinguished honor. It originated in America from Judge William Biddle, who, about the year 1681, emigrated from England and settled in west Jersey, where he became a member of the Council of Proprietors and of the General Assembly. Among his descendants have been many men who have attained marked distinction during the past two centuries. Among the better known ancestors of Alexander Biddle were Owen Biddle (born 1738, died 1799), who was a member of the Committee of Safety and member of the Constitutional Convention; Clement Biddle (born 1740, died 1814), Colonel and Quartermaster-General in the Continental Army, etc.; Colonel Clement C. Biddle (born 1784, died 1855), Commandant of the Pennsylvania Regiment, Light Infantry (volunteers) during the War of 1812, first President of the Philadelphia Savings Fund Society, and a writer on political economy; John Cadwalader (born 1805, died 1879), member of Congress from Pennsylvania and Judge of United States District Court at Philadelphia; George Cadwalader (born 1806, died 1879), Brigadier-General United States of America; Henry Jonathan Biddle (born 1817, died 1862), Adjutant-General Pennsylvania Reserves, United States of America; Colonel Chapman Biddle (born 1822, died 1880), Commandant of the One Hundred and Twenty-first Pennsylvania Regiment in the Civil War, and Thomas Biddle (born 1827, died 1875), United States Minister to Ecuador. Alexander Biddle is one of the sixth generation from William Biddle and the grandson of Colonel Clement Biddle, who was the Quartermaster-General under General Washington.

Alexander Biddle received a thorough education at the University of Pennsylvania, of which institution he is a graduate. After completing his course at the University Mr. Biddle entered the counting-house of Bevan & Humphreys, the largest shipping firm in Philadelphia at that time and one whose fame was world-wide. After four years' service in their counting-house he was sent as supercargo to Australia, China and Manila. He spent two years in this service, and, returning home, was engaged for four years in various pursuits. He then entered the firm of which his father was the head, remaining with Thomas Biddle & Company until the breaking out of the Civil War. He then entered the One Hundred and Twenty-first Pennsylvania Volunteers, which was commanded by his cousin, Colonel Chapman Biddle, and was chosen as Major of the Regiment, with it participating in all the engagements in the Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville and Gettysburg campaigns, and being promoted first to Lieutenant-Colonel and afterwards to Colonel. At Gettysburg he commanded the regiment with great credit to himself and the State he represented. After eighteen months of active service at the front he resigned his commission to return to Philadelphia, also retiring from business pursuits and enlarging his field of usefulness by devoting his time to business of a public and semi-public character. He was chosen a Director of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in 1874, and is still among the most active and influential members of the Directorate of that celebrated organization. He is also a Director in the Pennsylvania Company for Insurances on Lives and Granting Annuities, the Philadelphia Savings Fund Company, the Lehigh Navigation Company, the Contributionship Insurance Company, and quite a number of other similar institutions of the highest repute. Upon the organization of the Board of Directors of City Trusts, in September, 1869, he was elected a member, and, in January, 1882, was chosen as its President, being the third in succession. He is a Director of the Pennsylvania Hospital. By the will of the late Dr. James Rush, Mr. Biddle was named as an executor to succeed Henry J. Williams, his uncle, in the erection of the Ridgway Library, on Broad Street, between Christian and Carpenter streets, a monument creditable to the taste of its founder. On the 11th day of October, 1855, Mr. Biddle was married to Julia Williams Rush, daughter of Samuel Rush, late resident of the city of Philadelphia, and granddaughter of Dr. Benjamin Rush, a signer of the Declaration of Independence and of Revolutionary fame. He has six children living, four sons and two daughters.

tions of his pupils. Latterly, he also occupied himself with forming a new classification of diseases.

Bichat commenced a new work on anatomy, in which the organs were arranged according to his peculiar classification of their functions, under the title of Anatomie Descriptive, but he lived only to publish the first two volumes. It was continued on the same plan, and completed in five volumes by his assistants MM. Buisson and Roux. His death was occasioned by a fall from a staircase at the Hôtel Dieu, which threw him into a fever. Exhausted by excessive labor, and enfeebled by constantly breathing the tainted air of the dissecting-room, he sank under the attack and died on the 22d July, 1802, attended to the last by the widow of his benefactor, from whom he had never been separated. His funeral was attended by above six hundred of his pupils, and by a large number of the physicians of Paris. His bust, together with that of Desault, was placed in the Hôtel Dieu by order of Napoleon.

BICYCLE. As the derivation of the term implies, the chief component parts of this machine consist of two wheels. The word is applied to those two-wheeled machines which have been brought to their present state of perfection for human locomotion during the past five years. Shortly after the close of the great Continental war in 1815, the first bicycle was introduced into England from France. It was at the best an awkward affair, composed of a couple of heavy wooden wheels of equal diameter, one behind the other, and joined together by a longitudinal wooden bar on which the rider's seat was fixed, the mode of propulsion being the pushing the feet against the ground. That such a cumbersome method of locomotion soon died a natural death is not to be wondered at. For the next fifty years no real progress was made, as various kinds of levers and other attempted appliances were found too intricate. In 1869 M. Michaux of Paris conceived the idea of making the front or driving wheel much larger than the hind wheel; and very soon afterwards, M. Magee, another Parisian, still further improved bicycles by making them entirely of steel and iron. The principle of crank action attached to revolving axles having also become developed, the pastime of bicycling was entirely revolutionized. India-rubber tires and strong beaks were brought into requisition to relieve jolting; and now-a-days a crack racing bicycle with a driving-wheel from 55 to 60 inches diameter does not exceed 50 ℔ in weight, or about half the weight of one of the old wooden machines. Tricycles have been tried, but no great amount of speed will ever be got out of them until the friction and weight can be materially reduced.

The diameter of the front or driving wheel of the modern bicycle varies from 2½ to 5 feet, according to the length of the rider's legs. When it is meant for racing, most of the component parts are lighter, and the rest for relieving the legs when going down hill is dispensed with. The rider sits astride a small saddle, and the motive power is obtained from the feet working the crank treadles attached to the revolving axle of the driving-wheel. There being no lateral support to the machine, the first thing to be learnt is balancing, after which it is best to begin riding down a gentle gradient without using the treadles. Steering, which is managed by a transverse handle attached to the driving-wheel and placed in front of the rider, should be mastered in the same manner, after which the feet and legs may be brought into play on the treadles and speed gradually acquired. Falls are inevitable at first, and they are best avoided by slightly turning the driving-wheel in the direction the machine is inclining, not the contrary way. Care must be taken to keep all bearings, &c., oiled from time to time, in order to prevent friction and so lessen speed. With the exception of skating, bicycling is the quickest means of locomotion that man possesses. A fair bicyclist can outstrip a horse in a day, whilst an expert can do so in an hour. Bicycling has rapidly grown in favor during the past two years; and long tours are now made with the greatest ease. Where the roads are fairly level, and in a tolerably good state of repair, the bicycle is unsurpassed as a means of self-locomotion. In hilly and mountainous countries, where there are no made roads, or where they are much broken up and heavy, it is next to useless, although india-rubber tires to a certain extent relieve the jolting over rough ground. Lightness, great strength, and the best of workmanship are necessary in the manufacture of bicycles in order to prevent serious accidents. It is in the two former requisites that steel and india-rubber have such an advantage over iron and wood.

As a proof of the perfection to which bicycle-riding has now been brought, the following best performances on record, over a prepared cinder path, may be mentioned, viz.:—

| Miles. | Hours. | Min. | Sec. | Miles. | Hours. | Min. | Sec. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| ½ | 0 | 1 | 32⅘ | 10 | 0 | 34 | 41 |
| ¾ | 0 | 2 | 19⅗ | 20 | 1 | 12 | 38 |
| 1 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 30 | 1 | 52 | 48 |
| 2 | 0 | 6 | 31 | 40 | 2 | 31 | 48 |
| 3 | 0 | 9 | 58 | 50 | 3 | 9 | 21 |
| 4 | 0 | 13 | 19⅗ | 60 | 4 | 11 | 24 |
| 5 | 0 | 16 | 41 | 70 | 4 | 56 | 35 |
| 6 | 0 | 20 | 55 | 80 | 5 | 46 | 48 |
| 7 | 0 | 24 | 23 | 90 | 6 | 42 | 21 |
| 8 | 0 | 28 | 5 | 100 | 7 | 33 | 43 |
| 9 | 0 | 31 | 2 | 106 | 7 | 58 | 54½ |

The last of these, as one of the London daily journals remarked, fairly ranks as "the most extraordinary performance on record of any man, animal, or machine." The distance from Tunbridge to Liverpool, 234 miles, has been accomplished in 18 hours 35 minutes. A hundred miles a day, over fair roads, has often been achieved for several days together, and many such journeys are recorded. A ride of 800 miles, from London to John O'Groats, was made in 14 days, over unexceptionally hilly and heavy roads, in June, 1873.

BIDA, an inland town of Africa, situated in about N. lat. 9° 5′ and E. long. 6° 5′, sixteen miles N. of the river Niger or Quorra, and lying N.N.W. of the town of Egga. Bida, which was visited by Dr. Baikie in 1862, is a large town, the capital of the kingdom of Nupe.

BIDDLE, JOHN, frequently called the father of English Unitarianism, was born in 1615 at Wotton-under-Edge in Gloucestershire. He was educated at the grammar school of his native town, and then proceeded to Magdalen Hall, Oxford. He graduated as bachelor of arts in 1638 and as master in 1641, and was then appointed to the mastership of the free school in the city of Gloucester. While conducting this school in an admirable manner he diligently prosecuted his theological studies; and the results he arrived at were of such a nature as to draw down upon him the reprobation of the civic authorities. He circulated privately a tract called Twelve Arguments drawn out of Scripture, wherein the commonly-received opinion touching the deity of the Holy Spirit is clearly and fully refuted; and towards the close of 1645 he was summoned before the Parliamentary committee then sitting at Gloucester. By them he was committed to prison, though he was at the time laboring under a dangerous fever. He was released on bail after an imprisonment of some duration, and was then called before the Parliament, which desired to inquire into his views. After tedious proceedings Biddle was committed to custody, in which he remained for five years. During that time the Assembly of Divines at Westminster had discussed his opinions, and in defence he published his Twelve Arguments. The book was at once ordered by Parliament to be seized and burned by the hangman. Notwithstanding this, Biddle issued two tracts, one a Confession of Faith with regard to the Holy Trinity, the other Testimonies of Irenæus, &c., concerning the one God and the Persons of the Holy Trinity. These were suppressed by Government, and the Assembly of Divines eagerly pressed for the passing of an Act by which heretics like Biddle could be put to death. This, however, was resisted by the army, and by many of the Independent Parliamentarians; and after the death of the king, Biddle was allowed to reside in Staffordshire under surveillance. In 1651 the general Act of Oblivion gave him complete freedom, and his adherents soon began the practice of meeting regularly for worship on Sundays. They were called Biddellians, or Socinians, or Unitarians, the name which has now become associated with their opinions. Biddle was not left long in peace. He translated some Socinian books, among others, the Life of Socinus, and published two catechisms, which excited a fury of indignation against him. He was summoned before the Parliament and imprisoned. The dissolution of that body again set him at liberty for a short time, but he was presently brought up for some expressions used by him in a discussion with a Baptist clergyman. He was put upon trial, and was only rescued by Cromwell, who sent him out of the way to one of the Scilly Islands, and after three years released him. But in 1662 he was again arrested, and

CITY LIVING PROGRAM HOUSE OF THE MONTH

The Castle

"The Castle" in the Columbus Square neighborhood is the City Living Program's House of the Month. Columbus Square townhomes start at less than $60,000.

Architecture Of 'House Of Month' Gives The Development Nickname

The City Living Program's House of the Month for September is the "The Castle" at Columbus Square.

Developer Martin Jaffe was chosen to complete the final phase of this uniquely designed "downtown subdivision."

Clustered around the twin spires of the Shrine of St. Joseph, this total planned community features a diversity of townhomes and single-family houses, all with a turn-of-the-century flair.

The "Castle" itself consists of a variety of two-bedroom, 1½-bath townhomes, each finished to the buyer's specifications.

The display home is located at 1109 Biddle Street, but standard in all Columbus Square homes are wood-burning fire places, 10-foot ceilings, fully appointed kitchens with refrigerators, stacked washer/dryer, security system, private courtyard and off-street secured parking.

GETTING THERE

Tucker north to Convention Plaza, east to 11th, north to Biddle, west to display at 1109 Biddle. OPEN: Noon to 4 p.m. today (Sunday).

At the buyer's option, a yearly membership to the swimming pool, located on 11th Street, is available for approximately $100.

The final phase of the Columbus Square subdivision consists of 10 townhomes and four lots available to build single-family detached houses.

With the completion of the nearby world-class convention and sports complex, the new light rail system and the Columbus Square development, the historic downtown St. Louis neighborhood will have a refreshing touch of polished newness.

The affordable Columbus Square townhomes start at less than $60,000.

The financing incentives consist of an 7.8 percent, 30-year fixed-rate loan from the Missouri Housing Development Commission (MHDC) and a grant from the Community Development Agency (CDA) that will pay the points on the loan and closing cost.

A representative of Town and Country Mortgage Co. will be available from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. today (Sunday) at the display home to explain how lookers can become homeowners by investing a little less than 5 percent of the purchase price as the down payment. Further savings include 10-year tax abatements.

Columbus Square has developed into a full fledged neighborhood since its inception. It now boasts two organizations dedicated to the day-to-day betterment and the completion of the community — the Castle Homeowners Association and the Columbus Square Association.

House of the Month is sponsored by the City Living Program to introduce new home developments and special incentive programs offered by the City of St. Louis.

The final phase of the Columbus Square subdivision consists of 10 townhomes and four lots available to build single-family detached houses.

With the completion of the nearby world-class convention and sports complex, the new light rail system and the Columbus Square development, the historic downtown St. Louis neighborhood will have a refreshing touch of polished newness.

The affordable Columbus Square townhomes start at less than $60,000.

The financing incentives consist of an 7.8 percent, 30-year fixed-rate loan from the Missouri Housing Development Commission (MHDC) and a grant from the Community Development Agency (CDA) that will pay the points on the loan and closing cost.

A representative of Town and Country Mortgage Co. will be available from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. today (Sunday) at the display home to explain how lookers can become homeowners by investing a little less than 5 percent of the purchase price as the down payment. Further savings include 10-year tax abatements.

Columbus Square has developed into a full fledged neighborhood since its inception. It now boasts two organizations dedicated to the day-to-day betterment and the completion of the community — the Castle Homeowners Association and the Columbus Square Association.

House of the Month is sponsored by the City Living Program to introduce new home developments and special incentive programs offered by the City of St. Louis.

Grave inscription

"His toils are past, his work is done
He fought the fight the victory won".
"In my Father's House are many mansions"

* * *

"Our Darling ones have gone before,
To greet us on that blissful Shore."

* * *

He took thee from a world of care,
An everlasting bliss to share."

* * *

"A precious one from us is gone.
A voice we loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled."

* * *

"Budded on earth to bloom in heaven".

King Library

1882-1982

KING LIBRARY
ANDALUSIA, PENNSYLVANIA

The King Library was built in 1882 by Dr. Charles R. King. Dr. King was an ardent book lover who felt the community would benefit from a library. Dr. King was accounting Warden at All Saints Episcopal Church, Torresdale,Philadelphia at the time of building the King Library. Dr. King was born in New York City in 1813; the son of John Alsop King who served as Governor of the State of New York. His grandfather was Rufus King, a member of the Continental Congress,a Senator from New York, and minister to England for seven years. Dr. King entered Columbia University at 14, University of Pennsylvania Medical School at 18 and at 21 began a two year residency in Europe and practiced medicine in New York City and Philadelphia. Dr. King also served as President of the Public School Board of Bensalem Township.

The Maintenance of the King Library and the purchase of books has been supported by a legacy left by Dr. King and an additional bequest from his wife, Nora. The King Library is patterened after the John Quincy Adams' Library . The interior has glass enclosed book-shelves lining both the ground level and the balcony beneath a graceful, vaulted ceiling. The room also contains a beautiful marble fireplace over which hangs a portrait of Dr. King. Originally the room was furnished in the style of the day including art work of the era.Unfortunately, little of the original decor has survived. Only a few of the twelve sculptures remain in the Library.

The King Library which had fallen into disuse and disrepair was partially refurbished and reopened in the eqrly 1979's due to the effort of the congregation and the Rector-Librarian, The Rev. Stanley Manwaring. All types of books are represented, from children's literature to cookbooks. Also available are records, tapes and periodicals. The main focus of the King Library however, is an extensive collection of books on religion. There are many old books available for your purusal especially in the areas of literature and history. Disappointingly, many of the original books which were placed there by Dr. King had been disposed of during the period of disuse.

King Library is part of Church of the Redeemer, which was originally a country chapel of All Saints' Episcopal Church, Torresdale (Lower Dublin Township) and became an independent parish in 1925 at which point in time ,King Library was also transferred to Redeemer.

King Library was built and endowed one hundred years ago for the benefit of the community of Andalusia and today is still being maintained for the same purpose. The Andalusia area is no longer the country town it was in Dr. King's day, but our need for a local library is still being met by Dr. King's largesse.

'You don't have to be big to do big things...

Church of the Redeemer houses an active, involved congregation

by Carol Meyer

At Church of the Redeemer Episcopal Church on Bristol Pike in Andalusia, one thing is kept in mind. "You don't have to be big to do things. You can be small and do things and we are small," Pastor Reverend Stanley E. Manwaring said.

Though the church itself is small, with a seating capacity of approximately 100, the congregation is active. The women's fellowship guild raises money for those in need, the church's feeding program raises money and collects clothes and canned foods for the homeless program at St. Barnabus Church in the Haddington section of Philadelphia.

"We call St. Barnabus Church a kind of a sister congregation. We're trying to be helpful for them and we do things together when we can. They take homeless people and families. They have families in there sometimes as long as a week, giving them housing while they try to find a permanent place for them," said Rev. Manwaring, who is proud of the support that the congregation at Church of the Redeemer has given to the homeless program.

Last year, the church raised $1600 for the feeding program.

"From this little church of 65-85 in membership, we have fed as many as 12 families at a holiday. We've been able to help several families," Rev. Manwaring said.

Through the years, Rev. Manwaring said he has performed "a lot of weddings of all denominations" and continues to do many. "I even married an Episcopalian to a Turk. That was a little peculiar, but it worked out O.K.," said Rev. Manwaring, who added that the Church is "an ecumenical type of church."

The sounds of the church's full-rank 1920 Moeller organ can be heard during the weddings. "We have a very fine organist, a young man from Philadelphia named Daniel Tomko. We are one of the few churches that still has a pipe organ," Rev. Manwaring said. He noted that the organ was rebuilt in 1979 "at a cost of five times what it originally cost. The original cost of the organ was $2700. It cost $15,000 to rebuild it. We had the option of buy-

As of this June, Rev. Manwaring will have served the congregation at Church of the Redeemer for 24 years. "In 1964, two years after I was ordained at All Saints Church, I came here and I've been here ever since," Rev. Manwaring said.

He became deacon in charge in 1968. In 1971, he was named priest in charge. He now has five years left to serve before his retirement. "I have not been here since the church opened, of course. 1860 is a little bit beyond my time. But, I'll be here 24 years come June 4," Rev. Manwaring said.

While serving the congregation, Rev. Manwaring has seen the church overcome its difficulties. He remembers one particular time when the church was almost forced to close its doors. "The church had grown enough until 1966. It had fallen on a little hard times financially and they couldn't afford to continue with a full-time priest. They were going to close the church, but they kept it open through the efforts of several of the parishioners," said Rev. Manwaring, who stressed that the members of the congregation have continually showed him their appreciation through the years.

"It's a good congregation — the kind of a congregation that expressed their feelings. Back when I was 60 in 1981, they took up a collection and had a stained glass window, dedicated to myself, put in the church. That was a very loving thing to do," Rev. Manwaring said. He noted that some members of the congregation travel from areas as far as Churchville, Langhorne and Levittown.

When Rev. Manwaring recently celebrated his 25th anniversary as a minister, church members surprised him with a gift of money they had raised for a trip for him and his wife, Ruth. Rev. Manwaring has yet to decide on his destination for the trip but he has definite ideas about how much the people at Church of the Redeemer mean to him. In regard to the gift, he said, "It wasn't the money. It was just the idea that they wanted to celebrate something that I was just mentioning in my program and then they went ahead and did something extra. It was a surprise. It was very nice. That's the kind of a congregation it is. It's a loving, hugging congregation," Rev. Manwaring said.

Most of the church's congregation is made up of people who have been part of the church for a long time. "Our average age in this congregation is about 52," Rev. Manwaring said.

Due to the lack of young church members, the church has few youngsters enrolled in its Sunday school program. "We don't have much of a Sunday school. Once we did. Back in the '60s and the late '50s, we had as high as a hundred kids in the Sunday school. Today, if we get eight or 10, we've got a lot. And that's just the little ones. We have no students on the highs school level at all," Rev. Manwaring said.

There are not enough young people from the area to have a church youth group, either. "We have a few young people. I would say maybe half a dozen. Most of them live far away. That's why we can't get a group going," he said.

Just as Rev. Manwaring is pleased with the church congregation, he is quite happy about how the church is reaching out to the community and serving those in need. "We have a marvelous Thrift Shop which is open every Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. That's gone a long way in helping the church get out of its financial problems. It's a very good thing for us and for the community. People buy things very reasonably," Rev. Manwaring said.

The Church of the Redeemer now opens its doors to four Alcoholics Anonymous groups. "One of the new, best things that I'd like to kind of shout to the roof tops about is we have four AA groups meeting here five times a week. I'm quite proud of them, because they are marvelous people working hard at their problem," Rev. Manwaring said.

Rev. Manwaring is assisted by Alva Wallace during the 9 a.m. Sunday service. Mrs. Shirley Lehr is church warden. Lay assistant is Louis Tomlinson. Doris Freas is in charge of the church's altar guild. "These are people who have been in the community all their lives. So, it's an old, community type church," Rev. Manwaring said.

The Church was founded in 1860 as a mission of All Saints Church in Torresdale. "Legend is that it was built as a chapel for the servants of the wealthy river people. The funds were raised by Mrs. Charles Biddle of Andalusia back in 1858, 1860," Pastor Manwaring said.

Rev. Manwaring estimates that the adjacent library was built in 1850 or 1860 by Charles King, M.D. Dr. King was the nephew of Rufus King, the former ambassador to England. "The library has its own building with a hall attached. The building for the library has a second floor glass-enclosed back that houses approximately 20,000 books. It was built in 1882," Rev. Manwaring said. A memorial with the names of World War II veterans from the Bensalem area is located close to the property.

The church rectory was built in 1891 and was used as a Sunday school building. When Rev. Manwaring moved into the rectory n 1965, he was the first resident in 25 years. "It is a beautiful, old Victorian house," Rev. Manwaring said.

In 1925, the Church of the Redeemer became its own parish. Throughout the history of the church, members of the small parish have gone on to further religious study. "There are two former members of the Sunday school here who are contemplating Episcopal priesthood. They are now young ladies with their own children. That is one of the firsts for this parish," Rev. Manwaring said.

The Church of the Redeemer also contains records of a father and son who were affiliated with the church and who later became bishops. "Back in 1914 or 1915, the man who was a seminarian and later deacon became the Bishop of Michigan. His name was Bishop Creighton. He was attached to All Saints Church. Then his son, who was four years old at the time when they lived in this rectory, became Bishop of Washington. He died in April 1987," Rev. Manwaring said.

The parish of the Church of the Redeemer was in charge of the first school in Andalusia, a small wooden building that was located in back of the church. "When the Andulusia school that used to be across the street opened, they closed the wooden school. Then, the little wooden school burned down. Historically, it's been part of the community since 1860," Rev. Manwaring said.

The church grounds are kept in good condition by Raymond Moore. Mr. Moore is "a most marvelous sexton. He's here every day and the property looks it all the time," Rev. Manwaring said.

La Fayette Chamber of Commerce and is a Republican voter.

He married Miss Stella Hiatt, a native of Indiana. They have a son, Leslie, who graduated from the La Fayette High School and during the World war was with the Aviation Corps from August, 1918, until February, 1919. He is now associated with his father in the studio.

REV. JOHN GEORGE BENNETT, pastor of St. Joseph's Church in the fine little City of Garrett, DeKalb County, was born and reared in Indiana and his service in the priesthood of the Catholic Church had its inception in 1914. Father Bennett, whose consecrated service has inured greatly to the spiritual and temporal advancement of his present parish, was born at Dunnington, Benton County, Indiana, January 20, 1891, and is a son of John H. and Magdalena M. (Schilling) Bennett, the former of whom was born in Chicago, Illinois, November 5, 1862, and the latter of whom was born at Locust Gap, Pennsylvania, September [illegible] 1864, her parents, John and Elizabeth (Steinfeldt) Schilling, having come from their native Bavaria, Germany, to the United States in 1849, and both having passed the closing period of their lives in Benton County, Indiana, where the death of Mr. Schilling occurred May 20, 1903, and that of his widow on the [illegible] of July, 1926, their mortal remains being interred in the Catholic cemetery at Dunnington.

John H. Bennett, a retired farmer who resided in the City of Lafayette, Indiana, was a son of Charles and Mary Louise (Dean) Bennett and was a child of two years when his father entered service as a loyal soldier of the Union in the Civil war, it having been the fate of Charles Bennett to sacrifice his life on the altar of patriotism, as he was killed in the historic explosion of the transport steamer Sultana, which was conveying troops on the Mississippi River in the closing period of the war. John H. Bennett was a devout communicant of the Catholic Church, as is also Mrs. Bennett, in the faith of which they carefully reared their children. John H. Bennett died at Lafayette, October 26, 1930. Of the children, Rev. John G., of this review, is the second eldest, his older brother, William R., who was born November 10, 1886, being a successful farmer near Dunnington; George E., who was born January 16, 1893, is a progressive farmer in that same district of Benton County; Frank J., who was born February 26, 1897, resides at Lafayette and is a machinist by trade and vocation; Mary C., who was born December 14, 1899, is the wife of Carl Reifenrath and they reside in the City of Lafayette.

Rev. John G. Bennett attended the parochial school of St. Mary's Church at Dunnington, until he had completed the work of the eighth grade, and thereafter he continued his studies one year in the high school at Boswell, a village in his native county. He next passed three years as a student in St. Joseph's College at Rensselaer, Jasper County, and in preparation for the priesthood he passed five years as a student in St. Meinrad Theological Seminary, at St. Meinrad, Spencer County. He was ordained to the priesthood June 27, 1914, and thereafter was assistant to Rt. Rev. Joseph F. Delaney at St. Patrick's Church in the City of Fort Wayne from July 9, 1914, to April 29, 1927, on which latter date he was assigned to his present and important pastoral charge, that of the Church of Sts. Peter and Paul at Garrett, where he has labored with characteristic earnestness and with all of consecrated zeal. The original title of the church of this Catholic parish was Sts. Peter and Paul, but with the completion of the new church edifice, in 1929, the title was changed to St. Joseph's Church. Of the church and its history specific record is given on other pages of this publication. The parish is well ordered in all departments of its communal service and Father Bennett is revered by his flock, even as he is honored and valued as a loyal and progressive citizen of his home community.

DR. FRANK M. BIDDLE is a physician and surgeon whose name is spoken with special respect and honor at Battle Ground, a community where he has done his work as a capable doctor and as a loyal and progressive citizen ever since completing his medical college course.

Doctor Biddle was born in Allen County, Indiana, January 4, 1874. His father, Thomas M. Biddle, was born at Cincinnati, Ohio, and during the Civil war served with an Ohio regiment in the Union army. After the war he moved to Fort Wayne, Indiana, was a druggist there, and had a high degree of mastery of chemical processes. He made perfumery preparations and was also the inventor of a valuable formula which was subsequently acquired by the Royal Baking Powder Company. He married Caroline I. Cottingham, who was born at Troy in Miami County, Ohio.

Dr. Frank M. Biddle was one of six children. He attended the grade and high schools in Fort Wayne and then entered the Fort Wayne College of Medicine, now a department of Indiana University. He was graduated M. D. with the class of 1895 and in April of the same year located at Battle Ground, where he has practiced medicine and surgery for thirty-five consecutive years.

During the World war Doctor Biddle attended the Medical Officers Training School at Fort Riley, Kansas, was commissioned a first lieutenant and was detailed for duty at Camp Green, North Carolina, with the physical examination unit. He was on active duty from September to December 31, 1918, and after the war became a captain in the Medical Reserve Corps. He has served several terms as health officer at Battle Ground.

Doctor Biddle in 1914 was honored with the election as president of the Tippecanoe County Medical Society. He is a member of the Indiana State and American Medical Associations, belongs to Post No. 11, of the American Legion and is secretary and treasurer of the Johnson Brothers, Incorporated, of Battle Ground. He is a member of Battle Ground Lodge No. 313, of the Masonic fraternity, is a member of the Scottish Rite body and Murat Temple of the Mystic Shrine at Indianapolis, and Tippecanoe Lodge No. 273, Knights of Pythias.

William A. Schnaible, secretary and treasurer of the Schnaible Soap Company, Inc., at La Fayette, Indiana, a notable industry, being the oldest soap works in Indiana, has been a factor in the business for over fifty years.

The present business, with its modern plant and facilities, represents seventy-seven years of growth and development since 1853, when the firm of Pierce & Cherry Company started soap manufacturing. In 1868 M. and J. Schnaible bought the business and the president of the corporation today is Emil M. Schnaible. It is a complete modern plant with 40,000 square feet of floor space. The product is sold through jobbers over Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Minnesota and Ohio.

William A. Schnaible was born at La Fayette, July 9, 1881, and is one of the eleven children of Michael and Anna M. (Klaiber) Schnaible. He was educated in the grade and high schools of La Fayette. When he was eighteen years of age he began his career, which has been one of unremitting attention to the business that was founded by his father. In order to master the business he worked in all departments. The business was incorporated in 1899 and since 1923 William A. Schnaible has been secretary and treasurer.

He has been active in the La Fayette Chamber of Commerce and is a business man with a high degree of public spirit and willingness to cooperate in all matters of community advancement.

Ernest H. Schilling is a Lafayette manufacturer, president of the Peerless Wire Goods Company, Incorporated, a business which he helped found. Mr. Schilling's business experience since early boyhood has been identified with the steel and wire industry.

He was born in Tippecanoe County, Indiana, April 26, 1886, son of Ernest W. and Katherine (Whipkers) Schilling. His mother was born in Tippecanoe County and his father came from Cincinnati to Lafayette in 1885 and for many years was a well known merchant.

Ernest H. Schilling was one of a family of four children. He attended the grade and high schools of Lafayette, but was only fifteen years old when he became self supporting and began acquiring experience which has been utilized in his independent career. For eight years he was with the Barbee Iron Works, and then for a time with the Union Steel Products Company of Albion, Michigan. Returning to Lafayette in 1910, he was one of the organizers of the Peerless Wire Goods Company, Incorporated, an industry that has been one of the substantial business enterprises of Lafayette for the past twenty years. It is a big asset of the city, employing 160 people, and manufacturing an extensive line of wire goods specialties, which are sold through jobbers all over the central states. The plant is located at 2700 Ferry Street and has 100,000 square feet of floor space. Mr. Schilling is president of the company, James J. Wiselogel, vice president, and E. R. Clegg, secretary and treasurer. During the World war the plant was in production on a war basis.

Mr. Schilling is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, is a Rotarian and a member of the B. P. O. Elks, the Knights of Columbus and Catholic Order of Forresters. He and his family are members of St. Boniface Catholic Church. In politics he is independent. Mr. Schilling married Miss Ruth Brickweg, of Lafayette, and they have two children, Ernest William and Rose Mary.

Charles A. Reichard, president of the Superior Ice Cream Company of La Fayette, is the owner of a very prosperous business, with a service throughout Tippecanoe County. The business represents the energies and concentration of a long period of years, starting when he was a boy with limited education and making his industry and experience the sure foundation on which he has built a successful business career.

Mr. Reichard was born at La Fayette, Indiana, November 23, 1880. His father, William Reichard, was a native of Hessen, Germany, and came to La Fayette about 1855. He served with an Indiana regiment in the Civil war and was wounded in one battle. After the war he was a cigar manufacturer and liquor dealer at Lafayette, continuing in business until his death. He married Katherine S. Eslie, also of Germany, and they had a family of six children.

Charles A. Reichard had no opportunity to go beyond the grade schools in getting an education. Afterwards, in the intervals during his employment during the day, he attended night classes, and this supplemented his earlier advantages and laid a practical foundation in equipment for a business career. At the age of fourteen he was working for a dairyman. His knowledge of the dairy business enabled him to establish a plant of his own in 1905. He started with only two cows and a wagon for delivery. He built up a comfortable business, using thirty cows, and in 1918 sold out.

In 1921 he established the Superior Ice Cream Company, and in 1927 he took over a competitive organization known as the Bohrer Products Company. His plant, now located at 123 South Fourth Street, is a model sanitary ice cream factory, with about 9,000 square feet of floor space and employs twelve persons. The Superior Ice Cream Company manufactures a standard line of products which are sold and distributed throughout Tippecanoe and adjoining counties. This wa

ACTIVITIES OF 1864.

During the winter of 1864 thirty-five German-speaking Catholics organized St. Paul's Catholic church and erected a building at the corner of West Washington street and Fairfield avenue. Rev. Edward Koenig was the first pastor, followed by Rev. H. F. Joseph Kroll. . . . Peter P. Bailey was appointed postmaster of Fort Wayne, to succeed Moses Drake, Jr., whose death occurred during his second term. . . . Jesse L. Williams was appointed by President Lincoln to serve as a director of the Union Pacific railroad, a position which he held by reappointments of Presidents Johnson and Grant. . . . Among the settlers of 1864 were Primus Scherzinger, from Baden, Germany, jeweler; Edward Gilmartin, from Ireland, railroad and telegraph construction contractor and lumberman; James H. Simonson, manufacturer; Dr. David D. Wiessel, from New York, dentist; E. B. Kunkle, valve manufacturer, and A. H. Currier, from Maine, manager of the office of the Western Union Telegraph Company. . . . A popular place of amusement of the time was the Melodeon, or Palace Hall. . . . Contractors Hall and Kimball built a wooden bridge "sided and roofed" across St. Mary's river at Main street; the bridge was replaced by the present iron structure in 1878. . . . A mill for the manufacture of "print" paper, and a better quality of paper for book printing, was established by the Fort Wayne Paper Company, composed of Messrs. Freeman, Bard and Dublinski. A. G. Barnett became interested in the venture in 1867. The plant was destroyed by fire in 1871 and was not rebuilt. The mill was located about five miles north of Fort Wayne on the right bank of the St. Joseph river. It was operated by water power.

Dr. Frank Biddle of Battleground is supposed to be a cousin to Dads' father. — Grandpa Joseph.

The Merchants National bank, with a charter dated May 1, 1865, opened for business at the northwest corner of Berry and Calhoun streets. The first officers were: Peter P. Bailey, president; Dwight Klink, cashier; Peter P. Bailey, Sol D. Bayless, David F. Comparet, George I. Little and John Studebaker, directors. The institution, though considered safe, conservative and well managed, discontinued business in 1874. . . . Royal Baking Powder, one of the most widely known products for household use, had its beginning in Fort Wayne in 1865, when Joseph C. Hoagland, druggist, compounded a combination of chemicals to meet the needs of the housewife. Samples of the powder, distributed to the homes of Fort Wayne, were found to meet with popular favor. Mr. Hoagland later removed to New York and entered upon the manufacture and sale of the article. In 1893 he declined an offer of $12,000,000 for his holdings. Later a syndicate of which William Ziegler was the head purchased the business. Thomas M. Biddle and Cornelius N. Hoagland were associates of Mr. Hoagland in the beginning of the manufacture of the product in Fort Wayne. . . . Among the settlers of 1865 was Mason Long, grocer and restaurant proprietor, who became known as the "Reformed Gambler." Mason Long was a convert to temperance in 1877, and he embraced Christianity in 1878 during a series of religious services held by Rev. J. R. Stone of the First Baptist church. Mr. Long, attired in a white robe, made an appealing address on the evening of his baptism. Soon afterward he discontinued the conduct of his restaurant and entered upon his country-wide tours, delivering addresses from the carriage in which he drove from town to town. As a reformed gambler he spread the gospel which drew thousands from ways of intemperance and wrongdoing. . . . Other settlers of the year were L. O. Hull, wall paper merchant; Christian Kelly, town marshal; Dennis O'Brien, street commissioner; Celestine Trenkley, who, with Primus Scherzinger, engaged in the watchmaking and jewelry business; Ferdinand Tapp, contractor, and J. B. Downing, contractor and large property owner. . . . A. C. Huestis and Montgomery Hamilton embarked in the wholesale grocery business. . . . The Central Express Company established an office in Fort Wayne, with E. F. Reiter as agent. . . . The first post of the Grand Army of the Republic was organized August 24, 1865. It was known as Post No. 2, District of Allen, Department of Indiana. The men who assembled at the Aveline house, with Colonel J. O. Martin, of Indianapolis, to form the post were Colonel George Humphrey, Major James S. Gregg, Captain Christopher Hettler, Lieutenant J. H. Ehlers, Lieutenant James C. Woodworth, Lieutenant Colonel Chauncey B. Oakley, Captain Arnold Sauermeister, Lieutenant Henry M. Williams, Colonel Charles Case, Colonel Robert S. Robertson, Lieutenant John H. Jacobs and Private Gustavus Boltz. George Humphrey was elected post commander, Henry M. Williams quartermaster and John H. Jacobs adjutant. This post was later numbered 72. "It died of politics," observed the late Colonel Robert S. Robertson. "Bickerings engendered by political strife bore fruit and resulted in dissolving the post without any official action of either the post or the department to declare it moribund, or give it funeral rites." However, with the passage of time, Sion S. Bass post was organized in 1881, Anthony Wayne post in 1883, George Humphrey post in 1888 and General Lawton post in 1900. The present Lawton-Wayne post No. 271 is the successor of the Anthony Wayne, the George Humphrey and the General Lawton posts. . . . The destructive ravages of foxes upon the sheepfolds of the farmers of Allen county brought into being a large organization of farmers and citizens of Fort Wayne, who indulged in fox hunts on an extensive plan. Strict rules governed the sport, in which scores of men participated, each acting under instructions of the appointed marshals, with the result that the hunted animals were driven to a common center, where those who escaped the fire of the sportsmen fell a prey to the dogs.

ACTIVITIES OF 1866.

In May, 1866, Dr. S. B. Brown, dentist, performed the first operation in Fort Wayne for the removal of teeth without pain. The patient was a woman and the dentist was assisted by Dr. W. H. Myers. "This," observed a local paper, "is the new method of producing local anaesthesia by the ether spray invented by Dr. Richardson, of London." . . . In 1866, the city purchased the sites

HOOVER'S CEMETERY

Hoover's cemetery, known also as Mount Hope, and Athens cemetery, lies along the north side of the Erie Lackawanna R.R., in Henry twp, about three-tenths of a mile east of the intersection of SR#650E, and Division Road (SR#14). A sign at the entrance reads "Hoover Cemetery, 1891."

Land for this cemetery was donated by Henry Hoover and William Rannells. William Rannells and his wife Susan were originally from Virginia, but removed to Ohio where they remained for some time before moving on to settle east of Athens, between Rochester and Akron, in Fulton Co.,Ind. They brought with them a young slave girl, Fannie Rose, who died in 1855. She was buried in the Rannells family burial ground which was later made a part of Hoover's cemetery.

The Rannells house, home of William Rannells, and later used as a Tavern or Inn, was probably thirty rods, a little south & east of the old Mount Hope church, which was at the south-east corner of the cemetery. Traces of the old church foundation are still visible. (Ref.: Fulton Co.,Ind. Hist. Soc. Quarterly, Dec.1968 (No.2), pp. 5-6, 15; Home Folks, Vol.2, by Marguerite Miller, p.93.)

The grave markers in this cemetery were recorded by the compilers of this book in July 1974. On Oct. 29-30, 1975, an additional ten hours was spent re-checking the whole area, and making additions to the first record.

We divided the cemetery into three sections: North-west, South-west, and East. The rows were numbered from west to east, and the stones were read from north to south.

History of Dayton, Ind. 1827-1977

Lafayette had already been platted in 1825 by William Digby.
The first settlers arrived at Dayton in 1823, the town was not platted or named until 1827.
The first lots were laid off by William Bush,
Who called it Fairfield.
The next year Mr. Horam added to the town lots, & it was decided to change the name to Marquis because there was another town in the State named Fairfield. In 1830
David Gregory platted & laid out an addition on the north North side of existing lots. He stipulated that he would donate land for a School & School grounds if the town should be Called Dayton. It was so done. By 1902 Dayton had ca 500
500 inhabitants & J. L. Kingsley laid off more lots to the north Richard Baker & James Paige.
Daytons first White settlers were the first White Child
It was Richard Bakers wife that bore the first White Child in the area, & she taught the first school. It was a Subscription school which met in her home. The school room on Sunday became the Sunday School
The names Paige, Bush, Horam & Gregory appear through the history of Dayton.

"Morality is a recognition of a relationship between man and man, but religion is the recognition of a relationship between man and God".

& the entire co. only 8 or 10 families more & excepting Logansport & Ft. Wayne there were not in Indiana, north of the Wabash River, 300 inhabitants. The mode of travel overland was mostly on horseback or with ox teams & the roads were mostly trails or paths. Yet the people went to church. It was the one great event of the week & all looked forward to it.

~~Hwy~~ Highway 38 existed as a plank road at least as far back as 1846. The road from Lafayette to Hamilton, a town 3 miles east of Mulberry. The road was made of small trees felled & laid parallel to form the road bed then hardwood planks laid across the trees. In hot & humid weather, the planks warped out of shape & proved a difficult road to travel. It was too narrow for two vehicles, so in meeting, one had to leave the road in order to pass one another. A corporation formed in 1861 to take over the road & construct a good gravel road. Among the promoters were Dr. D. H. Crouse, George Kellenberger & Samuel Davis.

There were toll gates, One was 2 miles west of Dayton ca where "The Curve" is & on the South side of the road. The other toll house stood ca 2 miles east of Dayton & the building still stands, in use as a private home. It is a small house at the corner where one turns to go to Baker Cemetery or the lake. In between 1880 & 1890 it became a free road. During its operation one could purchase a ticket good for a week. "Old Plank Road" was taken over by the State, becoming State Road 38.

The railroad came to Dayton 1875 or 1876.

Many of the homes in Dayton are well over 100 yrs old.— made from brick from the brick yard in west side of town.

Oldest homes prob. Leamon Parnell at 693 Walnut (St. Rd. 38) & George Adams 700 Walnut

The Dayton Union Seminary 1850-1872 or "Old Academy" & the Tower School 1872 — from 1893-1898 Tower School 2 yrs - then 3 yrs. 1906-1908-4 yrs school.

CLOCKS, WATCHES & JEWELRY.

CHEAPER THAN EVER!

S. DANFORTH has just returned from New York city, where he has been purchasing goods in his line very low, and will sell at very low figures for cash, fine Gold Watches, Gold Spectacles, Pens, Pencils, Jewelry, Ear Rings, new style, Pins, Finger Rings, &c. He will soon receive a large assortment of Fancy Goods, Cutlery, Perfumery, Steel Goods, Worsteds, Lamps, Clocks, &c., &c., at a very small advance from cost prices, either at Wholesale or Retail. I mean what I say, please call and satisfy yourselves, and remember that I do not mean to be undersold by any house in this line in the Star City.

THE AUCTION STORE.

J. ELDRIDGE has removed to the south-west corner of the public square, in Barbee & Meredith's Block, south of Rockwell's dry goods store, where he offers an entirely new and constantly changing stock of and everything that the wants of the community may demand.

He is constantly receiving goods, which, in consequence of the unexpected dullness of the fall trade, are necessarily forced into market, and must be sold without reserve, to the highest bidder, thus offering an opportunity for such as no other establishment in the city can or will offer. There is no doubt of this, gentlemen, as you yourselves regulate the prices of goods when offered at auction.

Particular attention will be given to the sale of commission goods.

Persons having Farms, Wild Lands, Town Lots, or other property for sale, will do well to entrust to me, as my acquaintance with business men throughout the State is extensive.

I have now for sale some valuable Town Lots, in Lafayette, Dayton, and other towns, also some good Farms which are well situated, and at low prices. Terms good and a chance for selection.

My room is new, and well situated for cosignments, n being large and commodious.

REYNOLD'S & OLDS,
FASHIONABLE HATTERS,
North Side Main St., 2 doors West Public Square, Lafayette, Indiana.

T. S. REYNOLD'S AND H. E. OLDS,

respectfully call the attention of the citizens of Lafayette and vicinity to the fact, that they have just opened a Hat Shop on Main Street, two doors west Public Square, where they intend keeping on hand all kinds of Hats and Caps, which they will warrant to be equal if not superior in style and finish to any ever manufactured in the West. Being themselves, practical hatters, and employing none but the best of workmen, (although not celebrated,) they are satisfied that they can suit all who may favor them with a call.

There is an elegance about their Hats which they manufacture that does not characterize those sold at any other establishments in town. They are emphatically the Hats of the "Star City"—admired by all, and the "rest of mankind." As regards the terms of REYNOLD'S & OLDS we question whether purchasers can find a good article of hats as cheap at any other similar establishment in this city. "Try them on" once and be satisfied.

DENTISTRY.
DR. BIDDLE,

HAS formed a partnership with his brother, an experienced Dentist from the east, who brings with him a very useful and beautiful stock of Teeth and Instruments. Teeth will be inserted from one to a full set, by Atmospheric pressure, with a beautiful representation of the natural gum, restoring the face to its original shape.—Useless teeth extracted with but little pain—decayed teeth permanently saved by plugging.

Office and residence on Columbia street, near the market.

were purchased as early as June, direct from the Agents and Manufacturers, and owing to the advance of Cotton immediately afterwards, we are able to sell lower than those that purchased at a latter period.

In FANCY GOODS, those that will take the trouble to examine our well selected Stock, will agree with us, that we have again, as we always have done, taken the lead in bringing on the most complete assortment.

In DRESS GOODS, we have an endless variety, and we have made arrangements with our friends East to forward us the latest Styles as soon as they can be procured.

We respectfully solicit a call from our friends and the public generally, when we will substantiate all the above facts more fully.

BULL'S SARSAPARILLA

IT is put up in full quart bottles, and contains the strength of six times as much pure Honduras Sarsaparilla as any similar preparation in America. Price One Dollar per bottle, or six bottles for Five Dollars.

It has been a well established fact for years past that Sarsaparilla, when purely and properly prepared, was the only true panacea for all diseases originating from an impure state of the blood, the use of mercury, intoxicating drinks, evil habits in youth, barrenness, etc. We boldly assert that John Bull's fluid extract of Sarsaparilla is the only preparation before the public that is prepared on strictly scientific principles and of uniform strength. The Sarsaparilla is purchased without regard to price, and every pound before being used is subject to the strictest chemical tests, and its

Dentistry.

We dropped into Dr. Biddle's & Brother's office the other day, and were much pleased with their conveniences for performing all kinds of Dental Surgery. They have the best assortment, and the greatest variety of instruments, we have ever seen, and from the jars, boxes, and even barrels of extracted teeth in their possession, we judge they are doing a "killing" business. Their stock and work will compare favorably with that of any Eastern establishment. They will meet with encouragement of course, and the reason why, is, they advertise. As Rosser's Dutch English has it, "we guarantee that good work will be done by all who advertise" in the Courier.

We presume no one

Will fail to read attentively the advertisements of RUGERS & MAXWELL. They are not in the habit of appearing often in the public print, but are doubtless convinced that the only way to secure a sale of their goods is to let the people know that the goods are on hand, where they may be found, and that they will be sold at as low rates as at any other house in the city.

Abstract of Ordinances.

APPROVED, JUNE 19, 1850.

NOTICE is hereby given that the following ordinances, will be in force from and after 10 days from this day.

"Hogs found running at large, (above three months old) to be marked—mark recorded with the clerk of the town—and 20 cents tax paid for each hog.

"Hogs found running at large, without such mark and the tax being paid, shall be seized by the Marshal and sold, after giving notice of the time and place of such sale, on the previous market morning.

"Dogs and bitches found running at large, to be collared, and have the owners name on collar. Dogs taxed 50 cents—bitches $3.

"The Marshal to employ persons to kill all such found running at large, not collard and marked and the tax paid.'

THE AUCTION STORE.

J. ELDRIDGE has removed to the south west corner of the public square, in Barbee & Meredith's Block, south of Rockwell's dry goods store, where he offers an entirely new and constantly changing stock of and everything that the wants of the community may demand.

He is constantly receiving goods, which, in consequence of the unexpected dullness of the fall trade, are necessarily forced into market, and must be sold without reserve, to the highest bidder, thus offering an opportunity for such as no other establishment in the city can or will offer. There is no doubt of this, gentlemen, as you yourselves regulate the prices of goods when offered at auction.

Particular attention will be given to the sale of commission goods.

Persons having Farms, Wild Lands, Town Lots, or other property for sale, will do well to entrust to me, as my acquaintance with business men throughout the State is extensive.

I have now for sale some valuable Town Lots, in Lafayette, Dayton, and other towns, also some good Farms which are well situated, and at low prices. Terms good and a chance for selection.

My room is new, and well situated for cosignments,n being large and commodious.

their being given without cost to actual settlers, it was referred. Mr. Walker then introduced two bills, granting lands to Wisconsin for Railroad purposes.

Mr. Shields introduced a resolution which he intended to move as an amendment to the resolution of Mr. Seward, providing that a committee of three Senators be appointed by the Chair to introduce Lewis Kossuth to the Senate of the United States. He said the same course was pursued in the case of La Fayette. Each branch of Congress received him separately. He proposed now to adopt a similar course for the reception of Kossuth. Kossuth was now the guest of the Nation, and if it was intended to treat him with courtesy, it should be done with the spirit of courtesy at least. He could see no impropriety in receiving him in the manner proposed, and was sorry the resolution of the Senator, Mr. Foote, had been withdrawn, but was also surprised that the Senator from Kentucky, Mr. Underwood, should be opposed to that resolution. In no part of the world would Kossuth be received more enthusiastically than in the old State of Kentucky.

Mr. Underwood disclaimed having any objection, personally, to the reception of Kossuth, and giving him a hearty welcome. What he had objected to, was, the government doing anything as a government. He objected to the consideration of the resolutions at this time, and the subject was accordingly laid over.

Mr. Foote's resolution declaring the compromise measures a definite settlement of slavery, was then taken up.

To Joe Biddle, By George McKinnis

A Personal Tribute to my boyhood schoolmate and lifelong friend, Joe Biddle, late, of Green Hill, Ind.:

By coincidence Joe and I were both born in Tippecanoe County, Ind., and came with our parents to Green Hill at an early age. We grew up together, went to school together, went swimming in Little Pine Creek, and shared in many other activities.

Joe was a gentleman, honest, industrious, and a champion of all that was right, good and legal. Joe was patriotic, served his country well as a soldier in World War I. He never married, so had no family of his own. He lived with his parents and kept the home going for them as long as they lived.

I have lived away from our little hometown for a number of years, but in my many trips through there, I always remembered Joe, and often stopped to say "hello" and talk with him. He always had a smile and never complained of his humble lot in life.

To me he and his home became a landmark.

Joe passed away in January of this year. He was 80 years old. I was saddened by his going, but was privileged to see his remains in the funeral home in Otterbein and to meet his five brothers again. I, along with many more of his friends, will miss him very much.

Hi! We want to invite you all to our Third Annual Biddle Reunion! It will be on August 30 (Sunday) at 12:00 till dark at Potato Creek State Park, at the Orchard Shores East Site. Potato Creek is located on State Road 4, about 5 or 6 miles west of Lakeville (turn at the only stoplight in Lakeville at Roads 31 & 4). For all you ambitious people there are swimming or biking or nature trails to keep you busy. There is a charge of $1.50 per car to enter the park. Once inside, follow the road to the left till you come to the beach area. Orchard Shores is on the right just past the beach -- follow the signs to our area.

BRING A FAMILY PICTURE OR SNAPSHOT THAT YOU CAN LEAVE WITH US. FILL OUT ATTACHED FAMILY RECORD AND BRING IT TO THE REUNION WITH YOU.

We look forward to seeing all of you there! Come and have a great time!

Howard E. Long

May 20, 1932 – April 28, 2003

Howard E. "Red" Long, 70, of 11191 N.E. Wawasee Drive, Syracuse, Ind., passed away after an illness at 5:45 a.m. Monday, April 28, in his home.

He was born on May 20, 1932, to Howard and Jeanette Long in South Bend, Ind. In his years of growing up, he enjoyed hunting and fishing. While attending Washington High School, he participated in the music and drama departments. He was also elected senior class president.

On April 5, 1951, he married Rosemarie Patnaude. Red is survived by his wife, Rosemarie; a son, Greg (Sheree) Long of Syracuse; three daughters, Sherry (Jerry) Cappert of Lake Villa, Ill., Valerie (Rick) Shipley of Cromwell, Ind., and Angela (Nathan) Pool of Fortville, Ind.; 11 grandchildren; and by a sister, Carol Andrews of South Bend.

Once the kids were grown, they were able to enjoy extensive traveling and indulge in ethnic foods and gourmet cooking. Family gatherings always brought great joy to all. In 1971 he acquired Ace Exterminating from his father, and in June 1972 the family moved to Lake Wawasee to be more centrally located for the company, renamed Ace Pest Control Inc. He was very active within the pest control industry, serving as president of the Indiana Pest Control Association, and was appointed to many committees of the National Pest Control Association. Locally, he was involved with Rotary International, the Alcoholic Beverage Commission, the Turkey Creek Sewer Board, and was a member of the Maxwelton Golf Club.

He continued his love for fishing, beautiful sunsets and nature, especially bluebirds. After retiring, his hobbies included golfing and gardening, and he rekindled his love for oil painting.

"Red" was well-known as a type of philosopher. With his strong beliefs he passed on morals, integrity, humor, knowledge, and a passion for life to not only his family members but to all he touched. He made a great impression on many, and has graced us all with wonderful memories.

A memorial service will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday, May 4, in the Oakwood Center at the Academy Hall, with Harlan Steffen officiating.

Memorial contributions may be made to Goshen Care at Home/Hospice, P.O. Box 723, Goshen, IN 46527.

It was the fourth time since the twins were born six weeks early on June 29, 1968, that they needed surgery at the same time, said mother Barb Morrell.

At 18 months, they both needed
the same corrective eye surgery.
At the same time in 1998, Bruce Boettcher had surgery for persis-ent ear infections and Brian Boettcher had surgery for sinus problems.

And last year, both had eye surgery at the University of Michigan.

Morrell said her sons, who have Down syndrome, were told some time ago that they had slowed heart rates and would ikely need pacemakers. LaPen-a said both have what is called ick-sinus syndrome.

The syndrome is marked by pe-iods when their heart rates drop o 30 to 40 beats per minute — alf the normal rate.

MEMORIES ARE FOREVER

Now that I am gone from here please do not grieve for me.
Let there be no sorrow,
life must go on you see.
Time will pass so quickly
but time will heal the wounds.
The memories will last forever and the pain will leave you soon.
Memories are forever,
I thank you for the love we've shared
And I'll be waiting for you when you climb the Golden Stairs.
